LINCOLN MERCHANTS ACCEPT CODE

U. S. Report Urges Reorganizing Lincoln Health Work

40 HOUR WEEK IS EFFECTIVE HERE MONDAY

Retailers Wire President They Stand 100 Per Cent Behind Recovery Program—Stores Open at 9, Close at 5:40 Beginning Next Week—Firms to Increase Forces.

Lincoln retailers voted unanimously Tuesday morning at a meeting held at the chamber of commerce to have a telegram sent to President Roosevelt informing him that the group stands 100 per cent behind him in his business recovery program. It was also voted to place the government's blanket code for retailers, covering hours of work and rates of pay into effect next Monday, July 31. E. U. Guenzel, chairman of the retail division of the chamber, presided at the meeting, which was attended by representatives of practically all dry goods, clothing, furniture and other establishments in the city.

At the suggestion of Chairman Guenzel the motion pledging the retailers to the president's plan was offered and adopted as the first business of the meeting, after he had made a brief explanation of the provisions of the code, which is to bind all those subscribing to it until such time as one covering the particular business in which the subscriber is engaged is submitted and accepted by the federal government.

It was also unanimously agreed that Lincoln retail establishments shall open at 9 o'clock in the morning and close at 5:40 p. m. These hours will go into effect next Monday morning.

Means Additional Work.

It was figured that the new system will afford employment to 20 per cent more people than are now employed, as with maximum working time of 40 hours per week, and the stores open 52 hours, one additional employe for each five now employed would be required.

In speaking on the motion to get behind the president and adopt the blanket code, R. E. Campbell called attention to the fact that it must be accepted by all lines of business whose individual codes have not been accepted by the government, and stated that the one prepared by the dry goods association had been rejected. The object, he said, is to make incomes keep pace with rising prices, and the purpose of the pres-

Employers Honor Roll to Be Posted In All Postoffices

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Every person interested in seeing better times will have a reminder, when he goes to the postoffice of the employers in his home town who are co-operating in President Roosevelt's re-employment campaign.

The president said: "It is my purpose to keep posted in the postoffice of every town a roll of honor of all those who join with me."

MAIN OFFICES HOME LOAN BANK AT GRAND ISLAND

Branches at Lincoln, Omaha, Norfolk and Scottsbluff.

WASHINGTON, July 25— (AP) — Grand Island Tuesday was selected as the site of the main offices of Nebraska's Home Owners Loan corporation branch at a conference between Charles Smrha, Nebraska manager of the corporation, Arthur Mullen, democratic national committeeman from Nebraska, Rep. Howard, and John C. Byrnes, with the bank board.

The state will be divided into five districts, with offices in Grand Island, Omaha, Lincoln, Norfolk and Scottsbluff.

Smrha said the bank's personnel will be taken up with the board tomorrow, when his recommendations will be examined. He declined to name the probable candidates for postiions.

"I expect to have the five offices open by August 10, Smrha announced. "In the meantime, I suggest all persons desiring home mortgage relief get in touch with holders of their mortgages and explain to them the need for relief. Unless mortgage holders are willing to co-operate the plan cannot be successful."

The board commented on the completeness of Smrha's report and decided the location matters in less than half an hour.

Extent of Districts.

The selection of Grand Island considered in some quarters a concession to the Thompson-Bryan forces. Counties in the Grand Island district, where Smrha will make his headquarters, are Hall, Blaine, Loup, Garfield, Wheeler, Valley, Greeley, Custer, Sherman,

Norfolk Assures Co-operation With Roosevelt Program

NORFOLK, Neb., July 25—(AP)—Representatives of a score of civic organizations met here Monday afternoon and formed an organization with which to co-operate in carrying out the provisions of the recovery act. A telegram pledging support was sent to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson at Washington. An executive committee composed of A. J. Betzold, chairman, Mayor George Phelps, Gene Huse and Ben J. Stein, secretary of the chamber of commerce, with two other members yet to be selected, was formed.

PLEDGES OF AID ARE POURING IN AT WHITE HOUSE

Roosevelt Highly Pleased With Response to Recovery Appeal.

APPEAL MADE FOR PROMPT SIGNING

Drive to Better Times By Boosting Buying Power Sweeps U. S.

The text of President Roosevelt's address on recovery appears on Page 7 of this paper.

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Charter members of the Roosevelt "roll of honor," in the striving to better the times by boosting buying power enrolled in legions today by telegrams to the white house.

Preparing to take stock of his program's progress at a meeting with the "recovery council," President Roosevelt was described as highly pleased with the more than 5,000 pledges of support received before the day wag half done.

The postoffice department made ready to post the "honor" rolls in its branches in every city and hamlet, so members of the comunity might know those employers who heeded the call the president made last night to raise wages and restrict working hours.

Watches Small Employers.

The president was said to be noting most particularly the reaction of the smaller employers to his appeal. Upon them he believes now rests the big burden of carrying through the campaign for mass reemployment and increased purchasing power.

Members of the cabinet and administrators of the major laws enacted since March, who comprise the "recovery council," gathered reams of material for review at the afternoon session in the executive offices. Whether the consensus taken will lead to any shifts of attack remains to be seen.

Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the industrial law, and his aides proceeded with taking of testimony on the proposed codes to govern the oil, lumber, rayon weaving and wool industries. In fact, the hear-

Corporations Present Objections To State Board.

Pipe Line Companies Claim They Are Losing Money.

Several protests against franchise valuations tentatively fixed by the state board of equalization last week were presented to that body Tuesday by spokesmen for some of the utility companeis affected. The hearing which began at 10 a. m. was continued during the afternoon, after taking time out for luncheon.

Ben Conlee of Lincoln, appearing for the Northern Gas & Pipe Line Co., objected to the $50,000 franchise valuation placed upon it. The company, he said, does not occupy or use public highways but has its own right of way across private lands, purchased from the owners. Its operations in Nebraska thus far have been conducted at a loss, Conlee stated. He gave last year's deficit as $350,000 in all the states the company does business and about $12,000 in Nebraska.

"If we were making any money we might not object to a franchise assessment, although I doubt if the company is legally and equitably liable to such a tax," he told the board. "I know of no basis for it except the precedent set three or four years ago by a former state board which reached up into this air and assessed the companies on

ITALIANS REACH SHEDIAC, N. B.

SHEDIAC, N. B., July 25—(AP)—General Italo Balbo leading his air armada on the return trip from New York, landed here at 1:35 p. m., Lincoln time today.

Two of the 24 planes were missing as the fleet arrived at Shediac, its first halting place east of New York, one of the inhaving come down at Rockport, Me., with a broken oil line and the other at Milledgeville, N. B., short of fuel.

Following the chief's flagship the other planes dropped down to the harbor in triads

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

On the opening day of the Chicago World's Fair. "They built quite an Exposition around the Chevrolet Assembly Line." Since that time thousands of visitors have echoed his words And it is no wonder people are sold on Chevrolet. No wonder someone sells a Chevrolet every 40 seconds. That was the record made in June, 1933. —Adv.

Signs for N. R. A. Co-Operators

This is the sign being issued to all employers who sign the code prescribed by the government under the national recovery act. "If all employers will act together to shorten hours and raise wages we can put people back to work," said President Roosevelt.

Lincoln Pledges Recovery Aid

To President Roosevelt at the White house there will go at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening the following telegram from the Lincoln chamber of commerce.

"President Franklin D. Roosevelt
White House
Washington, D. C.

Lincoln retail merchants in mass assembly today approved your national recovery program and unanimously agreed to sign the re-employment agreement as soon as they are delivered to be made effective as of July 31.

Lincoln Chamber of Commerce."

Fifty-two names of Lincoln business executives had been attached at noon and it was anticipated that a considerable number more would be added before 6 o'clock.

General Motors Has Big Advance In Net Earnings

Total for Quarter is 41 Millions; Large Gain in Sales.

NEW YORK, July 25—(AP)—General Motors corporation today reported net earnings for the second quarter amounting to $41,198,169 or 90 cents per common share—after preferred dividends—as compared with net earnings of $5,326,377 or 7 cents per common share for the corresponding quarter of 1932.

Net sales of the corporation stood at $191,954,311 for the second 1933 quarter as against $147,134,818 for the comparative period a year ago.

For the first six months this year net earnings amounted to $48,068,176, or the equivalent of $1.01 per share on the common stock. This compares with net earnings of $15,019,404 for the corresponding half year of 1932. Net sales for the six months this year were $311,954,474 as compared with $296,789,534 for the same period of 1932.

Net working capital as of June 30, amounted to $259,499,831, excluding cash balances in closed banks.

For the first six months this year dealers delivered to consumers 390,764 cars and trucks as compared with 345,574 in the same period a year ago, a gain of 15.7 per cent. Sales to dealers totaled 427,762 cars and trucks as compared with 341,751 in the first half of last year, an increase of 25.2 per cent.

COUNTY FIXES BEER SALE TAX

Charge of $10 Will Be Made For Issuing Licenses.

Restriction Placed On Sale Near Churches And Schools.

Only moderate restrictions will be placed on the sale of 3.2 per cent beer in the unincorporated villages and rural areas of Lancaster county, it was determined by the county commissioners Tuesday.

The two major regulations in addition to the general restrictions set up by the statute, are:

(1) No beer license shall be issued to applicants living within two blocks of a school or church, provided residents of the community have filed a remonstrance against the issuing of beer licenses in the church or school area.

(2) An occupation tax of $10, to defray licensing expenses of the county, shall be levied annually against each establishment to which a license is granted. This is in addition to the licensing tax provided in the statute of $10 a year for "on sale" and $25 a year for "off sale" licenses. The county occupation tax is to be paid only once annually, regardless of whether the beer seller

As Rogers Sees It

OAKLAND, Cal., July 25 — Well I am still herding governors. Got to go by air to keep up with some of 'em, in Roscoe Turner's Lockhead headed for 'Frisco where I will file this. With Roscoe is Fred Balzarr, the flying governor of Nevada; Governor Green of Rhode Island who has just flown all around Central America. Governor White of Ohio and family flew from Columbus yesterday. Governor Miller of Wyoming flew from Cheyenne. This hearding governors ain't near as bad as I thought it would be, just give 'em plenty to eat and let 'em speak and they don't give you any bother. Green of Rhode Island and Governor Cross of Connecticut are awful highly educated and speak different from these western and southern governors. So my job is really an interpreter for Green and Cross.

I am carrying a proxy from Bill Murry and Ma Ferguson both, so I got a lot of voting strength in the convention.

Yours, WILL.

NEW LIMITS ON GRAIN TRADING ARE APPROVED

Tentatively Agreed Limit Daily Price Changes In Wheat to 5c.

INCREASED TRADER MARGINS FAVORED

Conferees Favor Reduction in Futures Holdings of Any Trader.

WASHINGTON, July 25— (AP) — Farm administrators and representatives of grain exchanges today agreed tentatively to limit daily fluctuations in prices on wheat and other grains to 5 cents a bushel as a permanent policy.

The agreement was reached before the close of a two-day conference at which four principal changes in grain marketing practices were approved.

The first, the daily fluctuation limit at 5 cents, in order to obtain final approval, must be submitted for action to the business conduct committees of the Chicago board of trade and exchanges at Minneapolis, Kansas City, Duluth and other points which ordinarily oper-

GIVES APPROVAL TO TRI-COUNTY WATER PROJECT

Engineer Cochran Sanctions Plans Central Nebraska District.

Formation of the Central Nebraska Public Power & Irrigation district, which is promoting the tri-county power project in an area south of the Platte river, has been officially approved by State Engineer Cochran, thus placing that district on the same basis as four others recently organized to utilize waters of the Platte, North Platte, and the Loup rivers.

None of the water diversions asked for by these various organizations has yet been allowed. The tri-county enterprise involves some of the same territory and water rights covered in filings made by the Platte Valley power and irrigation district The latter contemplates developments on both sides of the North Platte river near Sutherland and North Platte and along the Platte itself.

State Engineer Cochran said it will be necessary to hold one or more hearings in order to determine how far the two schemes are in conflict with each ther, and also to permit Grand Island and Hall

ICKES READY TO NAME HIS AIDES

Regional and State Works Administrators to Be Announced Soon.

WASHINGTON, July 25 — (AP) — Early announcement of the names of regional and state public works administrators was promised by Secretary Ickes organization today, but there was no indication as to the exact time.

The men to be selected will cooperate with the central agency here in picking out the most worthy projects to be constructed in the government's vast re-employment program.

There were indications the appointments might be announced some time today.

Meanwhile Secretary Ickes said river and harbor projects hanging over from the Hoover administra- "to be sure they are justified in tion were being studied carefully laid down."

Such studies include the whole accordance with principles we've Mississippi river and the numerous projects authorized or begun in the system.

MUSIC STUDENT STRUCK BY AUTO

Miss Vermeda Johnson Severely Hurt When Knocked Down.

Vermeda Johnson, student in the University of Nebraska music conservatory, was severely injured when struck by an automobile at Fourteenth and R streets Tuesday afternoon. Miss Johnson, who lives at 1536 Q street, suffered possible internal injuries, a dislocation of the left collarbone, numerous contusions, and may be seriously hurt.

She was taken to Lincoln General hospital by a passing motorist and is being attended by Dr W W Carver and Dr W Allan Campbell

Miss Johnson was crossing the street when hit by a car driven by Henry Debus, police said. Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. T. E. Johnson of Stickley.

FAVOR PLACING ALL ACTIVITIES UNDER ONE HEAD

County and City Should Pool Resources for Constructive Public Health Program Says Dr. C. C. Applewhite—Criticizes Present Arrangement.

Lincoln has too many agencies engaged in public health work and there is a need of co-ordinating all activities, according to the report made Tuesday by Dr. C. C. Applewhite of the United States public health service, who recently made a survey of conditions here. "Under the present arrangement," Dr. Applewhite reports, "friction, discord and dissension occur, meaning waste that can be obviated only by placing all public health activities under one head."

To remedy conditions Dr. Applewhite suggests a complete reorganization of the city and county public health activities. This should be done, he says, through the city and county pooling their resources and perfecting an organization for efficient and economic administration of a constructive public health program. The influence of civic leaders will be a potent force for the consummation of the legislation, he points out.

The report shows that Dr. Applewhite made a detailed study of every health agency in both the city and county. A "casual" survey of the hospital facilities also was made.

Outlying Regions Backward.

A rather general inspection of environmental sanitation shows a need for improved methods in the small towns, rural schools and many rural homes, "is strikingly apparent, "as sanitation has not kept pace with other progressive developments. In the county appropriations for the work have been "niggardly small" compared with the rexpenditures.

In Lincoln the medical, dental and hospital facilities appear to be of high quality and adequate, he reports. Ninety-five per cent of the people use city water of approved sanitary quality, and a similar per

30 CENT AN HOUR MINIMUM FIXED FOR RELIEF WORK

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Orders fixing wages for persons engaged on relief projects at 30 cents an hour minimum and limiting their hours of work have been transmitted to the state relief directors by Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator.

The order is effective August 1 and provides that no person receiving work relief shall be permitted to work more than 40 hours a week, and if the person has an income shall be allowed to work only enough to meet his budget requirements.

TIP ON BARROW FRUITLESS HERE

Lincoln Officers Scour Highway to Omaha for Fleeing Bandits.

Two cars of Lincoln officers patrolled the east O street road and highway No. 6 for an hour and a half Tuesday morning after a report from Omaha that Clyde Barrow and Jack Sherman, who escaped from a posse at Dexter, Ia., Monday, may have been headed this way.

The officers search for the famous Texas outlaws was fruitless, however. A general police alarm was sounded in Omaha after a light maroon coach with a Kansas license drove over the Council Bluffs-Omaha bridge at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. It was thought the men may have been the ones who, with a woman, escaped at Dexter when Marvin Barrow and his wife were captured.

Detectives George Meyer and Harold Hulfish drove to Ashland and back while Detectives C. H. McCurdy and Harold Graves went east on O to the county line. They failed to sight the car.

NEW YORK DENTIST FOUND MURDERED

NEW YORK, July 25—(AP)—Dr E. Warren Sylia , 60-year-old dentist, was found dead today in his apartment, a gag over his mouth, a sheet around his neck and his hands tied.

The body was found by the dentist's maid and an elevator operator.

N. Y. Stock Exchange Will Close Saturday; Hours Are Changed

NEW YORK, July 25—(AP)—The New York stock exchange, following the close of today's abbreviated session, announced that, until further notice, the trading hours on the exchange would be from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, Lincoln time and no session would be held next Saturday.

STOCKS HIT BY PROFIT-TAKING

Early Gains Are Wiped Out; Wheat and Corn Prices Advance.

NEW YORK, July 25—(AP)—Brisk profit-taking struck the stock market in the late trading today, more than cancelling earlier gains of roughly $1 to $4. Sales approximated 3,500,000 shares for the three hours.

The midday opening found the market strong and it worked higher again after a slight reaction around the end of the first half-hour. However, offerings later increased and the close was lower. "Repeal" issues, which had been strongest on the rally, turned heavy.

Wheat at Chicago finished with advances of more than a cent a bushel and corn was up about 1 to 2 cents.

Syrian Domestic Life Seen as One To Which America Might Look For Pointers by Dr. E. Stanley Jones

To find unruffled, moral domestic life, Dr. E. Stanley Jones, headline speaker at the Nebraska Epworth assembly, told a round table discussion audience, Tuesday, that he would go to the Syrian Christians of India

Conducted in an informal manner, the meeting over which Dr. Jones presided suddenly whipped from consideration of the value of mediation to divorce. Someone in the audience asked about polygamy in India

"It's dying out" said Dr. Jones. "Most men have but one wife."

Dr Jones was discussing a method of religious expression used by himself and a group of some seventy other Christians and non-Christians in a sort of quiet camp meeting called "ashram." A woman in the audience of 600 interrupted with the question "Do both men and women participate in the ashram?"

Mixed Crowds Permitted.

"Yes," Dr Jones said "Families come to the ashram and young people of opposite sexes take part in some of the devotions. At first we wondered about the young people because customs of India differ greatly from western ideas. There is not the freedom between young men and young women—they don't have the mixed crowds.

"But the Indians agreed to let the young people come to the conference and sit together and talk together Of course forest strolls were not permitted. Even so we had two protests against young people being together at the ashram. Both protests came from the west."

What about divorce?—this from the audience

"Divorce?" Dr. Jones repeated. "I know of practically no divorces."

And then he explained that in a colony of Syrian Christians in India, men and women are on an equal plane They meet together in public Both men and women are educated and there is 100 per cent literacy among children of school age, he said

"During fifteen years, I have spent some time among these peo-

Woman Taken Near Beaver Crossing Is Questioned By Officers Regarding Kidnaping Of Banker Luer In Illinois

A woman resembling Vivian Berry, who is wanted for investigation in connection with the August Luer kidnaping in Illinois, was being questioned in State Sheriff M. L. Endre's office Tuesday afternoon.

The woman was brought to Lincoln Tuesday afternoon from near Beaver Crossing, where she had been living on a farm. Deputy State Sheriff Fred Benton, Sheriff Karl Greiner of Seward county, and a department of justice agent from Omaha went to Beaver Crossing to get the woman

Sheriff Greiner brought about the detention of the woman after he observed that she looked like Vivian Berry. However Greiner said Tuesday afternoon that it did not appear anything would develop from the arrest, but that the woman was to be questioned

The resemblance of the Beaver Crossing woman to the suspect in the Illinois kidnaping was noted by Greiner earlier in the week He did not make an arrest at that time but wired St Louis police for additional information.

The Beaver Crossing woman is known as Vivian Cunningham.

ST. LOUIS, July 25 — (AP) — Michael Musiala, on whose farm near Madison, Ill., August Luer, wealthy Alton, Ill., banker, was held five days by kidnapers, has made a complete statement of his part in the abduction, Chief of Police Joseph Gerk announced today.

Musiala, Gerk said, named Randall Eugene Norvell, Nameoki, Ill., professional bondsman now held in jail, as the apparent leader of the kidnapers, and added that the release of Luer July 16, after efforts to collect $100,000 ransom had failed, appeared to have been carried out against Norvell's wishes.

Musiala's confession supplements that of Percy Michael Fitzgerald, that he, "Irish" O'Malley a former convict and Mrs Vivian Chase, were the kidnapers who seized Luer while Norvell drove the automobile

Norvell has steadfastly denied any knowledge of the kidnaping. Mrs Chase and O'Malley are objects of a nationwide search.

A New Serial by Ruby M. Ayres

SYNOPSIS: Sick with apprehension because she has apparently caught Nicholas Boyd in deceit, and Bishop, her step-father, in an affair with Boyd's wife, Georgie Bancroft determines to wait in Nicholas has said he leaves her, turns, and have it out with him. For Georgie loves Nicholas, and Nicholas have said he loves her. Suddenly the door is pushed open, and Bernie Boyd, Nicholas' wife, enters, Bernie asks angrily whether Georgie has been there before and Georgie answers "Yes."

Chapter 43.

NICHOLAS ARRIVES.

There was a dramatic silence, then Bernie asked:

"And are you the 'innocent young girl' for whom my husband pleaded so eloquently last night?"

"I don't know," Georgie said.

"You don't know," Bernie laughed shrilly. "Perhaps you don't know that he has been asking me to divorce him, offering to pay me to divorce him?" She laughed again. "You must be very innocent, I should think."

She moved over to the fire and started at herself in the mirror that hung above the mantelshelf.

A sudden horror of everything seized Georgie. She took a stumbling step toward the door.

"I'll go."

Bernie turned sharply.

"Oh, no, you won't; as you've waited so long for my husband, you will wait a little longer. If you and Nicholas think you can make a fool of me you are mistaken. 'Innocent young girl' indeed!"

"Very well," Georgie said apathetically. She did not care what happened; her beautiful dream was ending sorididly, as surely most things did in life.

The moments dragged by in absolute silence; Bernie had lit a cigarette and was puffing at it agitatedly, her blue eyes hardly leaving Georgie's white face.

And then Nicholas came in, shutting the door carefully behind him.

For a moment nobody spoke, till at last, Bernie broke the eloquent silence with her sharp voice.

"Well, what have you got to say for yourself?"

Nicholas ignored her; he crossed the room to Georgie and spoke in an agitated voice.

"Why did you come here? It was sheer madness. I wrote to you."

Bernie's mocking laugh broke the following silence.

"Very pretty! Very pretty indeed!"

Nicholas turned.

"You will please go," he said quietly. "I will take you down to your car."

She faced him defiantly.

"Go! And leave you to your innocent young girl! Last night you begged me to divorce you. There was to be no scandal, you said." She drew a sharp breath. "I rather fancy that I shall have something to say in the matter now. It will make a pretty story,, Nicholas, you and this."

"You will please go!" he said.

She laughed in his face.

"You've changed your tune since we were in America," she flung at him fiercely. "Have you told your innocent young girl how you begged me not to leave you?"

There was a terrible silence, then she laughed again, though with less confidence.

"Well, I'll go," she said; she turned her head and looked at Georgie's bowed little figure.

"Make the most of him," she said mockingly. "It won't last. He'll get tired of you just as he has of the others."

She tore herself free of her husband's grasp, and the next moment Georgie was alone.

There was nothing beautiful left in life; she was awake to ugly reality at last. When Nicholas came back she was still standing where he had left her, her brown hair falling about her face, one hand clutching the back of the chair.

"Oh, Robin!" he said hoarsely.

He made no attempt to touch her; he walked away from her and stood staring down into the fire, and the silence was unbroken till suddenly Georgie began to sob.

"It's gone, everything that was so beautiful. Nothing can ever be the same again. I loved you so I'd have done anything in the world for you. It's like trampling something beautiful into the mud."

He asked painfully:

"You mean you don't care for me any more?" and then as she did not answer. "Well, perhaps I ought to be glad. We should have had to say good-bye anyway. I wrote to you. I knew it was useless. She wouldn't have set me free."

"I wish I could die," Georgie said, and she slipped to the floor in a little sobbing heap.

Nicholas turned slowly and looked at her. His twisted face was very pale and his eyes were ineffably sad; then he lifted her up, holding her in his arms, her face hidden against him.

For a long time neither of them spoke, but gardually Georgie's bitter sobbing ceased, and at last she moved one arm, slipping it round his neck, holding him fast.

She found her voice, faintly:

"Where are you going?"

"I told you in my letter."

"I never had it."

"I'm going over to Ireland tonight; I've a friend there. Later on perhaps—"

He felt her tremble.

"You won't—without telling me?"

"My dear, if you've got to tear your heart out, it's better to do it at once. I couldn't bear to feel that perhaps you were always going to be unhappy. I'm not worth it."

She said in a muffled voice. "If you weren't it wouldn't make any difference. I'd love you the same, whatever you were."

There was an apologetic tap at the door and Nicholas released her from his arms.

"Who is it?"

The voice of his man answered.

"It's quarter past eleven, sir."

Georgie's eyes dilated.

"I forgot you were going away," she whispered.

"Try always to forget it," he answered hoarsely. "Just try to believe that we're playing a game together, a game that perhaps some day will have a happy ending."

She said steadily.

"It won't make any difference if I never see you again. When I'm an old woman, I shall love you just the same, and whatever happens, wherever I am, if you want me—"

"If I want you?"

"We won't say good-bye, my little girl, just—" he broke off and it was Georgie who finished the sentence for him. "Just 'God bless you'."

Ruptured Men Get $3.50 Truss Free

Pay No Money—Now or Ever, for This Truss

Kansas City, Mo.—A newer rupture method developed by a doctor is so successful he offers to give every ruptured man or woman who tries it, a $3.50 truss free. It does away with leg straps, elastic belts, binding springs and harsh pads. After using it, many have reported their ruptures better. Ofter in a very short time. Others say they no longer need any support. The doctor offers to send his method on 30 days' trial and will send the $3.50 truss free with it. If the method does not help your rupture return it and keep the $3.50 truss for your trouble. If you are ruptured just write Dr. Kaiser, 6621 Koch Bldg., 2906 Main St., Kansas City, Mo., for his trial offer.—Advertisement.

MOST OF CORN CROP IS GOOD

Conditions Are Still Unsatisfactory In Southwest.

Most of Nebraska's corn crop is in excellent condition reports E. V. Jones, assistant agricultural statistician, in the July mid-month report issued Tuesday.

In central and eastern Nebraska there are some localities which are still lacking in sufficient moisture but in general the crop is up to normal or better. Conditions are still unsatisfactory in south central and southwestern Nebraska, the unfavorable June weather conditions not yet having been relieved. Abundant rainfall in the near future will be necessary to insure these areas against corn failure.

While July rainfall was too late for improvement in the small feed grain crops, late hay and forage crops will be greatly benefitted in most sections, Jones reports. Pastures are showing good improvement.

Jones points out that although recent grain market declines reduced the general level of farm prices on July 15 they were the highest in many months. The average farm wheat price then was 85 cents, which is 29 more than a month previous and 57 higher than last year. The farm price for corn was 45 cents, which is 16 cents more than a month ago and 19 cents more than a year ago.

The most remarkable price advance noted was of potatoes, which advanced from 48 cents a busnel on June 15 to $1.70 on July 15. Poultry and dairy products made excellent advances but hogs, beef cattle and lambs showed slight declines.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO CATCH THE PLAY-BY-PLAY — AND NEVER MISS!

● ABOVE—SAFE...OR OUT? Millions hang breathlessly on the words of Edson Brewster, master telegrapher for Western Union, as he taps out each exciting play for the tickers and bulletin boards that reach from Maine to Tokio! Before the crowd in the grand stand knows what has happened, Brewster has reported the play.

● LEFT—THERE GOES YOUR OLD BALL GAME! You wouldn't be human if you didn't get excited and wrought up when the home team puts the game on ice. It's a time when you want to smoke a lot. You will find Camels milder, and your nerves will be grateful!

● EDSON BREWSTER, veteran of every World's Series for over 20 years, says: "Camels never disturb my nerves."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

"It's some strain being the public's eyes at big sporting events," says Edson Brewster, who clicks out the play-by-play for Western Union. "I have to see everything and I have to see it right. I've got to keep my eyes on the field and a steady hand on the telegraph key every second. No wonder I am a steady smoker! But I do not worry about my nerves. I have smoked Camels for years. They are mild, and never disturb my nerves. I like them better."

Camels, being made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand, have brought new smoking satisfaction to thousands of men and women who had never known that a cigarette could be so mild... so rich and pleasing. Try Camels. Your own experience will soon reveal why steady smokers turn to Camels.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. They have given more pleasure to more people than any other cigarette ever made. "It's the tobacco that counts!"

JONES FORESEES IMPROVED INDIA

Assembly Speaker Says People Not Free Now To Accept Good.

More Intelligence Than Goodness In West Claims Speaker.

The greatest days in Christian missions in India will only come under self-government when the people of India will be free to accept the good that the west might have to offer, declared Dr. E. Stanley Jones in the fourth of his addresses before the Epworth assembly at Epworth park Monday night. About 3,000 attended the meeting.

"You may wonder why the east cannot accept the good that the west has to offer at the present time just as well as under a sysem of self-government," said Dr. Jones, "but any admission made by the Indian people concerning some weakness that should be cleared up will immediately be used against her arguments for self-government by her enemy. The Indian leaders, as leaders, refuse to admit that everything is not perfect in India, but, as people, admit there is much to be desired."

Speaking upon "The Renaissance of India," Dr Jones drew the parallel between what is happening in China and India at the present time and what happened in Europe in the fourteenth century.

Intelligence Exceeds Goodness.

"For years," Dr. Jones said, "Indian life was static. It was ruled by instinct and unprogressive religions. Everything was just the same at the end of the thousand years as it was at the beginning, except that it was a new generation filled with the old ideas. Just as in Europe, movements begin to spring for the betterment of the human being. One was the rebirth of the mind—the renaissance; and the other was the rebirth of the soul—the reformation For a long time, these two progressed at the same rate, each one gaining rapidly. However, there came a time in the west when the renaissance outdistanced the reformation. That, to my mind, at least, is exactly what is the matter with the wesern civilization at the present time. We have more intelligence than goodness!"

"In India, these movements for the rebirth of the mind are taking place" he continued. "One movemet is the revolt of the women for their rightful place. Woman in India has heretofore been deified or she has been degraded. Women are beginning to think out loud. They are jumping into the national life. Many of them are thinking seriously and earnestly of the opportunities to be found in communism. They are holding conferences and declaring for their rights in no uncertain terms. With such a spirt as this, I believe that women constitute the greatest hope of India."

Revolution Against West

The other two revolutions that are taking place in India are the revolution against the west and the revolution of the lower castes against the higher castes. These also, he said, will have a good effect upon the country.

"India," Dr. Jones said in closing, "used to revolt against Christ and the Christian church. They still revolt against the Christian church."

Music was furnished by the Milford Methodist choir under the direction of Rev. W. A Fowler.

Baby Shot As Man Fires Into Crowd

Prisoner "So Drunk He Didn't Remember" What He Was Doing.

BALTIMORE, July 25—(AP)—The wounding of 2-year-old Christopher Bonner was charged today against Samuel Domino, 23, who police said fired a volley of pistol shots from a speeding automobile last night into a South Linwood venue crowd.

The baby boy was hte only one wounded, a bullet passing through his mouth and cheek. Domino was arrested when his automobile was wrecked near the scene of the shooting.

Domino told police he was "so drunk he didn't remember" what he was doing.

JULIAN ROUNDS DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Lincoln 'Y' Worker Is Stricken With Heart Attack.

Julian Rounds, 45, well-known Y. M. C. A. worker, died suddenly at 6 o'clock Monday evening at the nome of his sister, Miss Gertrude Rounds, 1840 South Seventeenth street. Mr. Rounds, who was troubled with a heart ailment for several years, left a local hospital about two weeks ago after two months of treatment

Late Monday afternoon Mr. Rounds visited the Y. M. C. A. where he was employed as a clerk in the physical department for the past two years. He chatted with friends in the lobby and called upon Clifford Cunningham, acting physical director, with whom he worked. A friend took Mr. Rounds home about 5:30 o'clock. Mr. Rounds dropped dead shortly after he entered the house.

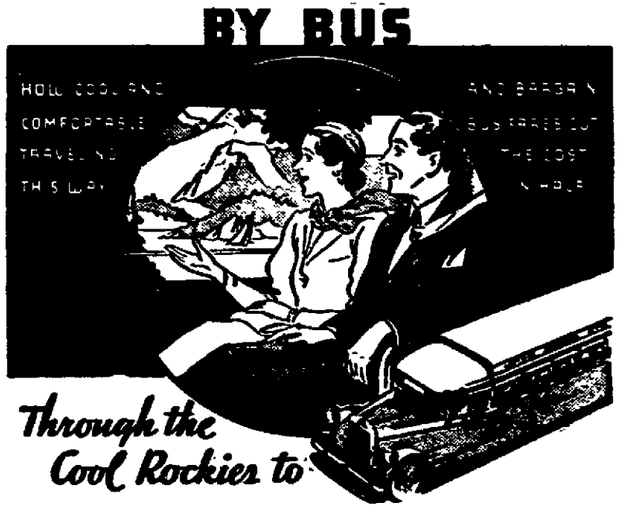

Mr. Rounds was a familiar figure at the Y. M. C. A. In addition to his regular duties in the physical department, he often amused youngsters with his piano playing and singing. During the winter months he assisted with management of league basket ball games.

He was born at St. Lawrence, S. D. Prior to the war he was employed as a secretary by H. E. Sidles. After the war, Mr. Rounds went to Rocky Ford, Colo., where he worked for a melon packing company. At the close of the melon season, he often made trips to Lincoln and during the winter months sometimes helped with basketball work.

Surviving besides Miss Gertrude, are three other sisters, Mrs. Lucille Bennett of Fairbury, Mrs. Alice Powell of Columbus, O., and Mrs. Mary Palmer of Frankfort, Kas., and a brother, Fred of Alpine, Tex.

The body is at Castle, Roper & Matthews' mortuary.

DOUGLAS COUNTY TAX ROW AIRED

Omaha Citizens Demand Bigger Cut; Charge Unfairness.

Airing of Douglas county tax quarrels took up much of the time at the state board of equalization's concluding session on real estate assessments Monday afternoon. Charges voiced by W. L. Pierpont, A. W. Gordon, and other Omaha citizens that valuations in that city had been arbitrarily held up so as to give city and county officials more tax money to spend brought a vigorous denial from County Assessor Sam Greenleaf.

The discussion waxed personal at times, and Greenleaf hotly contradicted the allegation that he had decided and publicly announced in advance that the reduction on real estate in Douglas would be held to 10 or 11 per cent. For the state as a whole the average reduction made by county assessors and boards is 18 2-3 per cent, including both farm lands and urban property.

That home owners in Omaha had not been reduced in proportion to some of the large business buildings was asserted by Greenleaf's critics. Chairman Frank J. Piha of the county board joined Greenleaf in defending substantial tax cuts made on the First National bank and other commercial establishments.

Gordon and Pierpont declared that unless the inequalities were corrected a taxpayers' strike would follow, with serious consequences to all local governmental agencies. A number of other citizens backed up their statements.

The state board heard from officials and taxpayers' spokesmen from a number of other counties during the afternoon. Most of them supported cuts of 20 to 30 per cent made by the assessing authorities of their respective counties. In a few instances, however, county officers were present objecting to any action by the state board which would further decrease moderate reductions made by the local authorities, on the ground that it would result in a shortage of needed revenue.

By sitting until 8:30 p. m. without taking time out for dinner, the state board finished with the county hearings. Next on its calendar was the matter of franchise assessments for utility companies, slated for hearing Tuesday forenoon.

CITY EMPLOYES CUT WEEK'S PAY

Half Of Vacation For Office Workers To Be Payless.

As a part of their policy of retrenchment, the city council decided Monday that all office employes of the city must take a vacation of two weeks, one of which will be without pay. The rule includes members of the city council. A resolution making the order official will be approved next Monday.

Regardless of when employes take their vacations, the pay deductions will be made from their checks for the first and last weeks in August, three days pay being taken each time.

When the council first discussed compulsory payless vacations several weeks ago, it was stated that the rule would apply only to those who have been in the employ of the city a year or more. Now other exceptions are to be made and will be written into the resolution to be approved Monday.

The council Monday once more upset a proposal by Commissioner Harm for changes in the health department, by refusal to approve a resolution reducing salaries of inspectors and nurses. Mayor Fleming and Commissioners Bair and Oberlies voted in the negative, declaring nothing should be done until after recommendations in a federal health survey here had been received. A resolution reducing the salary of H. A. Shaben from $3,000 a year to $2,800, was approved, effective June 1, Shaben is assistant superintendent of the water and light department.

Through an agreement with his colleagues, Commissioner Bair will use all of the emergency men sent to the city by the county relief bureau. They will be sent to the Antelope conduit with a view to completing the work there, and opening the ditch north to Salt creek by the end of the week. He will spend approximately $4,000.

Mr. Bair said this project must be completed, or the money spent thus far would be wasted. More than 1,000 truck loads of mud and silt have been removed from the conduit.

The council allowed claims of emergency workers, amounting to $2,829.65. Of this $774.90 was spent by the water and light department; for the roads, $555.88; sewers, $390.80; paving repair, $270.25; parks, $551.25.

Charles Thrasher Of North Loup Dies

Charles N. Thrasher, 75, of North Lou, died at 8:30 o'clock Monday evening at a local hospital. He lived at North Loup for fifty-five years, and was a member of the I. O. O F. lodge there. He is survived by his wife, Myra, three daughters, Mrs. C R. Henderson of Twin Falls, Ida., Mrs. C. A. Townsend of North Loup, and Mrs. R. D. Eyestone of Waco; four sons, O. T. of Green River, Wyo., H. H. and F. L., both of Big Springs, Neb., and L. W. of Los Angeles. The body is at Hodgman's mortuary.

Mrs. Mollie Fischer Hurt As Cars Collide

When the car in which she was riding collided with another at Tenth and Claremont streets Mrs Mollie Fischer, 1139 Charleston street, suffered a bruised mouth and cuts above and below the right eye and on the left hand fingers Monday evening She was given first aid at St. Elizabeth's hospital and dismissed.

Mrs Fischer was riding south on Tenth street with her husband, who had started to turn east into Claremont, when Jacob Burbach, 824 North Eighth street, collided with them, police said Burbach was traveling west on Claremont.

SPANISH REVOLT PLOT THWARTED; MANY ARRESTED

MADRID, July 25—(AP)—Arrests of more than 500 persons in Madrid, Barcelona, Seville, and other cities and the closing of many radical centers reassured government leaders today that a revolutionary plot had been thwarted.

"We have taken every precaution and believe ourselves ready for any emergency," said Manuel Azana, premier and war minister, who has devoted his whole attention since Friday to the reported revolt. "We believe we have lifted the cloud which was hung over Spain for several weeks and the storm has been definitely averted."

Correct this sentence: "If enough people vote for repeal," said the man, "the liquor problem at last will be solved."

CITY TO ISSUE BEER LICENSES

Applications Will Be Received by Clerk Wednesday.

Applications for licenses to sell beer in Lincoln will be accepted Wednesday by City Clerk Berg, the city council Monday having legalized sale of the beverage by the unanimous approval of an ordinance read three times and passed with an emergency clause attached.

Few attended the council meeting and Menry Carter, a resident of Lincoln since 1871, made the only protest against passage of the ordinance. "The devil is in the saloon," he told the council. "Where there are saloons, churches are set back, and there is less Christian living.

"I would not have anything to do with liquor no matter what happened," Mr. Carter said. "The saloon is the bulwark of satan. If you pass this law you are putting the devil in business against civilization."

With the beer ordinance out of the way, the council amended the definition of intoxicating liquors in the old law. It now conforms to the present state law, which reads that intoxicating liquors are those containing more than 3.2 per cent alcohol.

To prevent granting licenses for the sale of beer at locations where there is strong objection from the public, the law provides that hearings on objections must be held. Each applicant must advertise that he has applied for a license, at least three days before the hearing, the date of which is to be fixed by the council. The hearings will continue as long as necessary to dispose of the objections.

CITY CLERK MARRIES.

BELLEVILLE, Kas., July 25—Miss Olive Wells, city clerk of Belleville, was married Saturday to Gilbert H. Faulkner, also of Belleville, the ceremony being performed by Rector Alden of the Episcopal church in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. The bride was formerly a well known Republic county teacher, later assistant city clerk and still later promoted to her present position.

Independents Plan New Organization

Service Station Operators To Seek New Rules and Changes In Legislation.

OMAHA July 25 — (AP) — The nucleus of a state organization of independent oil dealers was formed here Monday night at a meeting of independent Omaha operators and a group of outstate independents represented by Ed J. Randall of Columbus.

The dealers adopted a code with a 45 cent an hour wage and a maximum 48 hour week. It was decided to adopt the name Nebraska Independent Service Station Retailers as the organization name and to seek legislation giving them the benefit of a three per cent shrinkage; to repeal the law prohibiting dealers from posting the amount of the gas tax on price signs and to reduce the tank inspection fee to $1.

Protests against the reduction by major companies of the retailers' sales margin were voiced

Randall represented dealers in Duncan, Humphrey, Genoa, Fullerton, St Edward, Albion, Loretto, Tilden, Primrose and Spaulding

Kearney Business Men Prefer Group Codes

KEARNEY Neb. July 25— (AP) — The national industrial recovery act failed to get the unwavering support of the 150 business and professional men attending a special meeting Monday afternoon of the Kearney chamber of commerce.

While no pronounced sentiment of opposition was manifest, it appeared the blanket agreement did not meet with approval of the majority, and the group failed to go on record as a body. Instead, those present, for the most part, preferred to abide by codes applicable to their own particular business.

It is expected group meetings will be called during the next few days with that purpose in view.

Complaint Filed Against Thomas L. Green, Scottsbluff.

GERING, Neb., July 25—(AP)—Charges of embezzlement, carrying three counts and involving $1,469, were filed in the Scotts Bluff county court Monday afternoon against Thomas L Green vice president of the defunct Platte Valley state bank of Scottsbluff.

The charges were filed by County Attorney Rush C. Clarke Individual amounts in the three counts are $172, $396 and $901.

The bank opened on a restricted basis after the national banking holiday in March, and about three weeks afterward was taken over by the state banking department Authorities said the bank to date has paid a five per cent dividend

Long Journey Before Fractured Leg Set

Man Injured At Murdock Refused Admission Omaha Hospital, Sent Back to Plattsmouth.

OMAHA, July 25—(AP)—George J. Himmelhein, 40, of Hamilton, O., got his fractured leg set, but he covered lots of ground in doing it Himmelhein says the injury was received in a leap from a moving freight train near Murdock, Neb., on Saturday night.

Early Sunday he was taken to Plattsmouth by Constable Alfred Edgerton of Plattsmouth and after an examination had revealed the fracture Himmelhein was brought to a hospital here. The hospital, however, refused to admit him because proper official arrangements had not been made.

So Edgerton took the injured man back to Plattsmouth where a physician late Sunday night set the fractured leg. The injured man is being cared for in the Cass county jail.

THIRD ACQUITTAL IN GRAND ISLAND BEER SALE TRIALS

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 25—(AP)—Paul Chaney, deputy attorney general, won at least a moral victory here Monday in the trial of Harry C. Roll, restaurant proprietor, in Police court on charges of violation of the prohibition law. It took the jury of six men 18 minutes to return a verdict of not guilty. Two defendants in cases charging illegal possession of 3.2 per cent beer previously had been acquitted in 5 and 4 minutes, respectively, and Chaney was called here to help in the prosecution. He took over the Roll case, the last, and was determined to keep the jury out at least six minutes in the hope that the prosecution could get one conviction in the three trials.

Elijah Filley, prominent farmer and cattle raiser and one-time republican candidate for governor, founded the town in 1882 at the time the Burlington built its branch line from Beatrice to Nebraska City The village plat was filed for record by Elijah and Emma Filley on April 22, 1883

P. T. Lewellen and J. W. Wright were the first merchants of the village W. A Waddington, who was later sheriff, also operated a store in an early day Dr I W Pickett was the first physician, although Dr. L. B. Boggs, who settled in this vicinity in 1874, practiced until he moved to Oklahoma years ago where he died. His son, Dr. C. S Boggs is the only practicing physician here now.

Other prominent names in the growth and development of the town are Hans Andersen, Daniel F. Kees, T C Hagerman, P M. Andersen, A C Tilton, Christ Christensen, Charles Parker, J. F. Burbank, James F Boggs, the latter for more than twenty years postmaster.

PLEDGE SELVES TO EXECUTIVE

Wire Message Assuring Their Fullest Co-operation.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 25—(AP)—Volunteering enmasse in President Roosevelt's business army to battle unemployment and depression, members of the retail section of the chamber of commerce, meeting in special session this morning, took preliminary steps for uniform and wholehearted cooperation in the industrial recovery act program and steps to assure uniform observance of measures invoked to bring the country out of economic chaos. Otto Mattke, head of the retailers' organization, presided.

The final act of the retail merchants at their meeting, the most largely attended in the history of the organization, was the dispatch of a telegram to the president advising him that the business interests of Grand Island had decided to cooperate to the fullest extent in the program to relieve unemployment and increase the purchasing power of the nation.

Will Mark Grave Of Pioneer Woman On Oregon Trail

HASTINGS Neb., July 25— (AP) — The grave of Mrs. Susan Hale, who lived on the Oregon trail in 1852, will be the scene of a pageant to be staged by the Hastings Outdoor club next Sunday. The lone grave around which many legends have sprung is north of Kenesaw on a sand hill overlooking the Platte river. Tradition has it the woman died after drinking water from a well that had been poisoned by Indians. It is marked by a rough enclosure, which will be replaced by a concrete and stone marker with a bronze plaque in connection with the ceremonies.

FINDS GOLDFISH ARE LONG LIVED

ALBION, Neb., July 25—(AP)—How long do goldfish live? William Rogers, a farmer near here, knows they live as long as eighteen years. One died at his place the other day that was eighteen years old. Rogers believes old age caused its death Another fish lived at his place fifteen years. Eighteen years ago the two goldfish were given to Rogers. He placed them in a stock tank. They were two inches long but grew to be a foot long.

Cosmetology Exams. — Examinations for the issuance of cosmetology certificates are being conducted at the capitol by the licensing board for that profession and Mrs. Clark Perkins, state director of examinations. About 70 applicants are seeking to qualify for practice. On Thursday evening a joint meeting of executive boards of the state hairdressers' association and the Nebraska cosmetology association will be held at the Cornhusker hotel to talk over the establishment of a trade code under the national recovery act.

School District Appeals. — The school district of the city of Omaha Tuesday filed an appeal in District court here from action taken by State Auditor W. B. Price in rejecting the city's claim of $5,753.60 for tuition of children whose parents are in military service in the state. The last legislature amended the state school fund apportionment law to provide for the tuition payment asked by Omaha, but Price rejected the claim on the ground that the law is unconstitutional in his opinion. The state auditor claims that payment of the tuition of children of men in military service in the state is discriminatory. Lancaster county has a small claim similar to that of Omaha, and State Superintendent Charles W. Taylor has filed an action in the District court asking a declaratory judgment no the constitutionality of the statute.

ings on the last named were concluded today.

Co-operation Pledges.

The Thomas A. Edison industries and all affiliated companies told the president: "Heartily subscribe to your suggested blanket code and will sign formal agreement."

Among typical parts of replies were the following:

Laredo, Tex., Southern Publishing Co.: "We will co-operate fully without grain of sand to make the industrial recovery program a success."

Santa Monica, Cal., 100 business firms: "We march with you today."

Philadelphia, City Business club: "Enthusiastically endorse and agree to co-operate with you in all your plans for rehabilitation."

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—A flood of telegraphed pledges, hundreds upon hundreds of them, answered today President Roosevelt's appeal to the nation for immediate enrollment of all employes under the blanket agreement to raise wages and create new jobs.

Hardly had he finished last night the plain-worded, direct call for patriotic and unquestioning acceptance of the voluntary and individual employer-pledges to raise pay and shorten hours before the answers began to come in. Within an hour 300 promises had come, a few more minutes and the number doubled and still there appeared no end to the flow.

The president and Hugh S. Johnson, the man who is running the industrial recovery unit, were reported profoundly gratified. A white house secretary said it was the greatest spontaneous outburst that had greeted any of the president's utterances.

"We are not going through another winter like the last. x x x It is time for courageous action, and the recovery bill gives us the means to conquer unemployment. x x x

"The proposition is simply this:

Urges United Action.

"If all employers will act together to shorten hours and raise wages we can put people back to work. No employer will suffer, because the relative level of competitive cost will advance by the same amount for all. But if any considerable group should lag or shirk, this great opportunity will pass us by and we will go into another desperate winter. This must not happen.

"I ask that even before the dates set in the agreements which we have sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so—the big fellows and the little fellows—shall at once write or telegraph to me personally at the White House, expressing their intention of going through with the plan."

They did, big fellows and little. One of the big ones was Harvey S. Firestone, who pledged to put the program into effect immediately.

While the mass movement was on, beating the gun on the campaign which gets under way officially day after tomorrow and seeks to have six million men reemployed by Labor day, with increased wages for those who now have jobs, Johnson and a corps of lieutenants worked away at a collection of difficult problems—continued and new hearings on general codes of fair competition for oil, lumber, wool weaving and rayon weaving industries; complaints of widespread discrimination by industries against union sympathizers; puzzling requests for interpretations of the blanket reemployment agreement.

The administration's labor advisory committee sought Johnson's consent to issuing a public warning to employers who discriminate against and discharge workers of union tendencies.

To deal with demands for clarification of the "blanket code," a special committee headed by Gen. Thomas H. Hammond, new director of the re-employment campaign, was set up today. Questions should be sent direct to him, and will be answered personally.

The president's address served clear warning that selfish interest is not going to be let stand in the way of the re-employment drive, and that he is satisfied the blanket agreement is fair to all.

It was a deliberate urging to patronize only establishments on the "roll of honor," those that have the right to display the blue eagle with the legend: "We do our part."

Howard, Nance, Dundy, Hayes, Hitchcock, Frontier, Red Willow, Gosper, Furnas, Phelps, Harlan, Kearney, Franklin, Adams, Webster, Clay and Nuckolls.

Smrha said the home mortgage indebtedness in that district is $25,000,000.

The Omaha district includes Douglas, Sarpy, Saunders, Dodge and Washington counties, with the mortgage indebtedness totalling $40,888,000.

The Lincoln district takes in Lancaster, Butler, Polk, York, Seward, Fillmore, Saline, Thayer, Jefferson, Gage, Cass, Otoe, Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson counties, where the home mortgage indebtedness is more than $31,000,000.

Norfolk's district includes Madison, Keya Paha, Boyd, Brown, Rock, Holt, Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Antelope, Pierce, Wayne, Thurston, Burt, Cuming, Stanton, Colfax, Platte and Boone counties with the home mortgage debt above $15,000,000.

The Scottsbluff district includes Scotts Bluff, Sioux, Banner, Kimball, Dawes, Box Butte, Morrill, Cheyenne, Sheridan, Cherry, Thomas, Logan, Hooker, McPherson, Grant, Arthur, Keith, Perkins, Deuel and Garden counties, with indebtedness of more than $10,000,000.

The home loan board first wanted only three districts in Nebraska and the acceptance of the five district plan was considered a victory for the Nebraska manager. Smrha today declined to say how large a staff would be picked for each office.

COUNTY FIXES BEER SALE TAX

has an "off sale," "on sale" license or both.

The rules drawn up by the commissioners are to be drafted in the form of a resolution by County Attorney Max Towle and will then be formally acted upon by the board.

Act On Licenses August 8.

Informal agreement was reached to make it possible for those desiring to take out beer licenses to meet the first rush of business August 10 to do so. All applications received by the board no later than August 5 will come before the board for action at its regular weekly meeting August 8. Those passed on favorably will thus be in a position to take advantage of the sale of the beverage as soon as it becomes legal under state law.

Jurisdiction of the county board is limited to the rural portions of the county and to unincorporated villages. The incorporated villages must decide themselves through their own village boards whether they will license beer.

Early in the discussion, Commissioner John Bennett offered a motion which would have had the effect of making a number of dance has and road houses in the vicinity of Lincoln ineligible for licenses. Bennett's motion, lost after some discussion for want of a second, was that the county permit licensing only in the unincorporated villages and grant no licenses in the rural parts of the county. "I think that will save a lot of trouble and that it is what people want," Bennett opined.

Eight Unincorporated Villages.

The unincorporated villages of the county include Cheney, Kramer, Walton, Prairie Home, Agnew, Martel, Emerald, and Rokeby.

Some consideration was given to wholly prohibiting licensing within half a mile of a church or school, but was later rejected in favor of the two block limitation and that only if remonstrances are filed.

Commissioner Bennett favored stricter regulations than either Commissioners T. J. Hensley or Joe Cameron. "I'd be in favor of granting the licenses freely," Hensley said. "If it is non-intoxicating, as they claim, why not open it to all," Cameron asked.

The commissioners took cognizance of the fact that they not only have the authority to issue the licenses but that they may be revoked whenever it is felt advisable to do so.

Printing Application Forms.

County Clerk J. B. Morgan said that he would have the application forms printed for use Wednesday morning. Morgan said he would not accept applications unless they are accompanied by the necessary license fees. This money will be refunded in case the applicant's request for a license is rejected.

Numerous inquiries have been made about beer, according to the county clerk, indicating that a number of licenses will be sought. Commissioner Cameron stated that he knew of eleven establishments between Linco n and Emerald that are going to ask authority to sell the brew.

While setting up the occupation tax provision, the commissioners expressed a bit of doubt about their authority to make such a restriction. While it was the general opinion that the county could levy an occupation tax just as well as the city it was determined to ask County Attorney Towle specifically about this point when he drafts he formal resolution.

NEW LIMITS ON GRAIN TRADING ARE APPROVED

ate along rules similar to those at Chicago.

The second provision will be the reduction of the holdings of futures of any trader to a maximum volume, probably from 2,000,000 to 5,000,000 bushels, the exact figure to be determined later after exchanges have surveyed the situation.

Increased Margins.

The third provision called for increasing margins of traders. In this instance the exact figure was left undetermined and probably none will be fixed. Rules of the exchanges now require that brokers insist upon "adequate margins" from traders.

Farm administrators took the position that higher margins should be employed than have been in practice for some time in order to prevent a sudden increase in margin requirements and a depressing effect on prices.

The fourth "reform" demanded by administrators and approved by the exchange representatives will be the elimination of trading in both weekly and daily indemnities. This has already been suspended by the Chicago board and other exchanges as a result of insistence by farm administrators and the grain futurse administration.

Present Limit 8 Cents.

Since last Thursday, limits on daily fluctuations to 8 cents a bushel on wheat, 5 cents on corn and 3 cents on oats have been employed under a special rule of the exchanges.

Administrators informed Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago board of trade, that President Roosevelt regarded 8 cents as too large a margin of fluctuation.

The 5 cent per bushel fluctuation will apply to wheat, rye and barley, with 4 cents on corn and 3 cents on oats.

LOCAL RETAILERS ENDORSE CODE; 40 HOUR WEEK

ident must be complied with in spirit as well as in letter. Unemployment must be done away with, he declared, and the people of Lincoln must put back to work the 1,500 who are now without jobs.

This sentiment was cheered by the retailers, and also found response in the statement of E. C. Hardy that it is not only necessary to cut down the hours, but to provide jobs for more people.

To Enforce Co-Operation.

Mr. Guenzel made similar statements, and called attention to the fact that in adjusting themselves to the new conditions retailers would be called upon to solve many difficult problems. Doubtless some hardships would result, but it should be understood that those people who fail to co-operate will be made to do so. The public is as much a party to the deal as those who are engaged in the retail business, and public opinion will frown upon and retaliate against any who attempt to evade by subterfuge the intent of the law.

J. E. Miller advised the retailers that the shorter hours provided for would mean no deterrent to business and said that real prosperity came to his firm when the hours were voluntarily shortened. It brought a beter feeling upon the part of everyone.

Practically all of the discussion was upon the various provisions of the president's code, numerous members asking for explanations of particular paragraphs. None, however, voiced demur or disagreement, and there was no dissenting vote when the motion was put to inform the president that the retailers of the city were squarely behind him.

Roy Ford, representing the retail grocers, informed the assembly that Lincoln grocers have adopted a code of their own, which has been forwarded to the national grocers association. It will go into effect on August 5 and provides that the stores shall open at 8 a. m. and close at 6 p. m., including Saturdays. Grocery stores have heretofore remained open Saturday evening. The wage scale is also to be higher.

Merchants Sign Agreement.

At the close of the meeting nearly all of those present signed the pledge to the president. The roll was to remain open until 6 o'clock this evening, by which time it was expected many additional signatures would be obtained. Those who signed at the meeting were:

county interests to present their objections to turning any part of the Platte river's flow into the Republican river watershed. An early date in August may be fixed for the start of the inquiry.

All Filings Approved.

In the meantime all of the power and irrigation districts recently organized for development along the Platte and the Loup, except the one known as the 66-county district, have had their preliminary filings approved and are now on a footing which enables them to press their respective claims for the privilege of withdrawing water not subject to existing appropriations.

The Central Nebraska district application proposes five different places for diversion—two from the North Platte river and three from the Platte below the junction of its branches. Locations are specified as follows:

For Sutherland reservoir, 5½ miles southwest of Sutherland; the North Platte regulating reservoir 7½ miles west of the city of North Platte; upper reservoir, 7 miles southeast of Maxwell; middle diversion, 9 miles southeast of Lexington, lower diversion, 4 miles southeast of Kearney.

The plans contemplate four different storage reservoirs and power dams and plants.

the basis of how much it was possible to get out of them."

Counties Discriminate.

Conlee also complained of the failure of assessors and equalizing boards in some counties to grant the same relative reduction to pipe lines companies on their physical plants as real estate has received.

The Natural Gas Pipe Line Co., through C. B. Randall, made a showing that its holdings in Gage county is lowered only 14 per cent, although Jefferson, Lancaster, Cass and Otoe have made 20 per cent cuts. The company's line through Nebraska, he said, has a daily capacity of 275 million cubic feet but is only running 50 million a day. Loss of $70,000 on operations last year was claimed.

A formal request for equalization of pipe line values between counties was submitted by the Nebraska Natural Gas Co., represented by Lee Basye of Lincoln and W. E. Watts of Chicago. Adams county, they declared, allowed only 12 per cent reduction and Thayer 16, while nine others granted 20 per cent to conform with reductions made on other property.

The board was advised by Assistant Attorney General Vail, sitting with it, that before such equalization can be had the counties must be given five days' notice and a hearing held. This could not be before next Monday. Under the law, the state board must complete all equalization and certify all valuations, together with the 1933 state levy, to county clerks, on or before August 2, which date will fall on Wednesday of next week.

G. E. Pearse, appearing for the Nebraska Continental Telephone Co. of Columbus, which is assessed on a $35,000 franchise value, protested against a $4,000 valuation for the Monroe Telephone Co., whose property has been taken over by the Continental. The Monroe concern, however is not on the state tax commissioner's list, although Pearse said it had received notice of the assessment. On the understanding that no franchise levy is being made, he withdrew the protest.

State Auditor W. B. Price acted as chairman of the board at its Tuesday sitting, in the absence of Governor Bryan.

Thorne Browne, managing director for the Nebraska electrical association, filed written objections on behalf of five of its member companies.

Union Labor Commends Earlier Store Closing

The Lincoln Central Labor Union has endorsed the proposal of Lincoln retail merchants to close their stores at 6 p. m. every day, including Saturday, according to a letter received by the chamber of commerce Tuesday. It was signed by Ernest Bock, secretary. The letter says the plan was approved at the last meeting, by the passage of a resolution setting out the details of the proposal.

GENERAL STRIKE ORDER IS ISSUED IN FILM STUDIOS

HOLLYWOOD, July 25—(INS)—A general film studio strike had been called in Hollywood today.

As an aftermath to the walkout Saturday midnight of about 700 sound technicians, who sought a basic wage scale and adjusted working conditions, general strike orders were issued to an additional 2,600 organized film workers.

Hollywood producers met the new threat by announcing that every effort would be made to keep the major studios open by replacing the striking workmen with others.

President Asks United Action For Recovery In Addressing Employers

WASHINGTON. (AP). The text of President Roosevelt's speech follows:

"After the adjournment of the historical special session of the congress five weeks ago I purposely refrained from addressing you for two very good reasons.

"First, I think that we all wanted the opportunity of a little quiet thought to examine and assimilate in a mental picture the crowding events of the 100 days which has been devoted to the starting of the wheels of the new deal.

"Secondly, I wanted a few weeks in which to set up the new administrative organization and to see the first fruits of our careful planning.

I think it will interest you if I set forth the fundamentals of this planning for national recovery, and this I am very certain will make it abundantly clear to you that all of the proposals and all of the legislation since the 4th day of March have not been just a collection of haphazard schemes, but rather the orderly component parts of a connected and logical whole

Long before inauguration day I became convinced that individual effort and even disjointed federal effort had failed and of necessity would fail, and therefore that a rounded leadership by the federal government had become a necessity both of theory and of fact. Such leadership, however, had its beginning in preserving and strengthening the credit of the United States government, because without that no leadership was a possibility. For years the government had not lived within its income. The immediate task was to bring our regular expenses within our revenues. This has been done.

Keeping Credit Good.

It may seem inconsistent for a government to cut down its regular expenses and at the same time borrow and to spend billions for an emergency. But it is not inconsistent because a large portion of the emergency money has been paid out in the form of sound loans which will be repaid to the treasury over a period of years, and to cover the rest of the emergency money we have imposed taxes to pay the interest and the installments on that part of the debt. So you will see that we have kept our credit good We have built a granite foundation in a period of confusion. That foundation of the federal credit stands there broad and sure. It is the base of the whole recovery plan.

Then came the part of the problem that concerned the credit of the individual citizens themselevs You and I know of the banking crisis and of the great danger to the savings of our people. On March 6 every national bank was closed. One month later 90 percent of the deposits in the national banks had been made available to the depositors. Today only about 5 percent of the deposits in national banks are still tied up. The condition relating to state banks, while not quite so good on a percentage basis, is showing a steady reduction in the total of frozen deposits, a result much better than we had expected three months ago.

The problem of the credit of the individual was made more difficult because of another fact. The dollar was a different dollar from the one with which the average debt had been incurred. For this reason large numbers of people were actually losing possession of and title to their farms and homes. All of you know the financial steps which have been taken to correct this inequality. In addition the home loan act, the farm loan act and the bankruptcy act were passed.

It was a vital necessity to restore purchasing power by reducing the debt and interest charges upon our people, but while we were helping people to save their credit it was at the same time absolutely essential to do something about the physical needs of hundreds of thousands who were in dire straits at that very moment.

Municipal and state aid were being stretched to the limit. We appropriated half a billion dollars to supplement their efforts, and in addition, as you know, we have put 300,000 young men into practical and useful work in our forests and to prevent flood and soil erosion. The wages they earn are going in greater part to the support of the nearly one million people who constitute their families.

In this same classification we can properly place the great public works program running to a total of over three billion dollars, to be used for highways and ships and flood prevention and inland navigation and thousands of self-sustaining state and municipal improvements.

Two points should be made clear in the alloting and administration of these projects—first, we are using the utmost care to choose labor creating quick acting, useful projects, avoiding the smell of the pork barrel: and secondly, we are hoping that at least half of the money will come back to the government from projects which will pay for themselves over a period of years.

More Lasting Prosperity.

Thus far I have spoken primarily of the foundation stones—the measures that were necessary to re-establish credit and to head people in the opposite direction by preventing distress and providing as much work as possible thru governmental agencies. Now I come to the links which will build us a more lasting prosperity.

I have said that we cannot attain that in a nation half boom and half broke. If all of our people have work and fair wages and fair profits they can buy the products of their neighbors and business is good. But if you take away the wages and the profits of half of them, business is only half as good. It doesn't help much if the fortunate half is very prosperous The best way is for everybody to be reasonably prosperous.

For many years the two great barriers to a normal prosperity have been low farm prices and the creeping paralysis of unemployment. These factors have cut the purchasing power of the country in half. Congress did its part when it passed the farm and the industrial recovery acts. Today we are and they will work if people understand their plain objectives.

First, the farm act. It is based on the fact that the purchasing power of nearly half our population depends on adequate prices for farm products. We have been producing more or some crops than we consume or can sell in a depressed world market. The cure is not to produce so much.

Without our help the farmers cannot get together and cut production, and the farm bill gives them a method of bringing their production down to a reasonable level and of obtaining reasonable prices for their crops. I have clearly stated that this method is in a sense experimental, but so far as we have gone we have reason to believe that it will produce good results.

It is obvious that if we can greatly increase the purchasing power of the tens of millions of our people who make a living from farming and the distribution of the farm crops, we will greatly increase the consumption of those goods which are turned out by industry.

Industry on Sound Lines.

That brings me to the final step—bringing back industry along sound lines. Last autumn, on several occasions, I expressed my faith that we can make possible by democratic self-discipline in industry general increases in wages and shortening of hours sufficient to enable industry to pay its own workers enough to let those workers buy and use the things that their labor produces.

This can be done only if we permit and encourage co-operation in industry, because it is obvious that without united action a few selfish men in each competitive group will pay starvation wages and insist on long hours of work. Others in that group must either follow suit or close up shop. We have seen the result of action of that kind in the continuing descent into the economic hell of the past four years

There is a clear way to reverse that process: If all employers in each competitive group agree to these codes perfected and signed, and we cannot wait for all of them to go thru.

The blanket agreements, howputting these two acts to work ever, which I am sending to every employer, will start the wheels turning now, and not six months from now.

Penalties if Necessary.

There are, of course, men, a few of them who might thwart this great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage. There are adequate penalties in the law, but I am now asking the co-operation that comes from opinion and from conscience. These are the only instruments we shall use in this great summer offensive against unemployment. But we shall use them to the limit to protect the willing from the laggard and to make the plan succeed.

In war, in the gloom of night attack, soldiers wear a bright badge on their shoulders to be sure that comrades do not fire on comrades In that principle, those who co-operate in this program must know each other at a glance. That is why we have provided a badge of honor for this purpose, a simple design with a legend, "We do our part," and I ask that all those who join with me shall display that badge prominently. It is essential to our purpose

Already all the great basic industries have come forward willingly with proposed codes, and in these codes they accept the principles leading to mass re-employment. But, important as is this heartening demonstration, the richest field for results is among the small employers, those whose contribution will to give new work from one to ten people.

These smaller employers are indeed a vital part of the backbone of the country, and the success of our plan lies largely in their hands. Already the telegrams and letters are pouring into the white house—messages from employers who ask that their names be placed on this special roll of honor. They represent great corporations and companies, and partnerships and individuals.

I ask that even before the dates set in the agreements which we have sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so—the big fellows and the little fellows—shall at once write or telegraph to me personally at the white house, expressing their intention of going thru with the plan. And it is my purpose to keep posted in the postoffice of every town, a roll of honor of all those who join with me

I want to take this occasion to say to the twenty-four governors who are now in conference in California, that nothing thus far has helped in strengthening this great movement more than their resolutions adopted at the very outset of their meeting, giving this plan their instant and unanimous approval, and pledging to support it in their states.

To the men and women whose lives have been darkened by the fact or the fear of unemployment, I am justified in saying a word of encouragement because the codes and the agreements already approved, or about to be passed upon, prove that the plan does raise wages, and that it does put people back to work.

You can look on every employer who adopts the plan as one who is doing his part, and those employers deserve well of everyone who works for a living. It will be clear to you, as it is to me, that while the shirking employer may undersell his competitor, the saving he thus makes is made at the expense of his country's welfare.

No Time for Discord.

While we are making this great common effort there should be no discord and dispute. This is no time to cavil or to question the standard set by this universal agreement. It is time for patience and understanding and co-operation.

The workers of this country have rights under this law which cannot be taken from them, and nobody will be permitted to whittle them away, but, on the other hand, no aggression is now necessary to attain those rights. The whole country will be united to get them for you. The principle that applies to the employers applies to the workers as well, and I ask you workers to co-operate in the same spirit.

When Andrew Jackson, "Old Hickory," died, someone asked, "Will he go to heaven?" and the answer was, "he will if he wants to." If I am asked whether the American people will pull themselves out of this depression, I answer, "they will if they want to."

The essence of the plan is a universal limitation of hours of work per week for any individual by common consent, and a universal payment of wages above a minimum, also by common consent.

I cannot guarantee the success of this nationwide plan, but the people of this country can guarantee its success. I have no faith in "cure-alls," but I believe that we can greatly influence economic forces. I have no sympathy with the professional economists who insist that things must run their courses and that human agencies can have no influence on economic ills.

One reason is that I happen to know that professional economists have changed their definition of economic laws every five or ten years for a very long time, but I do have faith and retain faith, in the strength of common purpose, and in the sirength of unified action taken by the people.

That is why I am describing to you the simple purposes and the solid foundations upon which our program of recovery is built. That is why I am asking the employers of the nation to sign this common covenant with me—to sign it in the name of patriotism and humanity. That is why I am asking the workers to go along with us in a spirit of understanding and of helpfulness.

FALLS CITY WEDDING.

FALLS CITY, Neb., July 25—Jack Warren McDonnell, 19, and Genevieve Beatrice Lusk, 17, both of Falls City, were married here Saturday.

REPORT URGES REORGANIZING HEALTH WORK

centage have their roperties connected with public sewage Seventy-five per cent of the milk used in the city is pasteurized

In guarding the public health city officials have been more liberal than the county but there is a lack of co-ordination between the organizations that has interfered with the achievement of the most effective results

Want Full Time Physicians.

The outstanding defect of the programs of both the city and county is that they are administered by physicians who devote their time to private practice, the report states. This is always inefficient and very wasteful, the report declares. "The health problems of 80,000 people certainly merits the undivided time and attention of a physician well trained in public health work."

Another defect, the report declares, is the fact that "the bulk of the work does not fall strictly within the realm of public health but are measures for the cure of the indigent sick The department could be more appropriately called a clinic. The nurses are clinical workers rather than health operatives A saving could be made if one of these was replaced by a clerk at a smaller salary than now paid the nurse, in keeping the records of the clinics"

Of the health department superintendent, the report says "too much of his time and attention is being given to detail work and not enough to planning and supervising a public health program"

After discussig clinics that are conducted gratis by Lincoln doctors, Dr Applewhite says 'One of the orthopedists of city holds an arthritic clinic weekly The chief of the clinic was out of the city and definite information could not be had from his co-workers relative to the type of vaccine used It seems to be a somewhat questionable procedure for a health department to foster and promote measures the efficiency of which have not been thoroughly established Only by a policy of embracing those measures which have been definitely proved effective can public confidence in a health department be established and maintained."

Need Trained Employes.

Adequate space has been provided in the quarters of the health department for a laboratory, the report declares, but appropriations for a technician have not been made. In this connection it is brought out that the quarantine officer is a layman, and "It would seem more logical to have the epidemologist or some other sufficiently trained man do the work."

The time of the chief dairy inspector could better be utilized in educating the dairymen in methods of producing clean, wholesome milk. It also would be better practice to separate the milk examinations and dairy inspections service And a full-time laboratory technician should be employed to do all laboratory work for the department" This it was pointed out would save the expense of making tests of the city water, the cost of which is now paid to a university professor

More effective control of tuberculosis is called most urgent" At present it is regarded as "wholly inadequate."

The percentage of pre-school and school children protected against diphtheria, typhoid fever and small pox "is pitifully small" in the city, and "much smaller," in the rural districts "In this day of enlightenment these diseases can and should be eliminated from the social order" If this were done, it was pointed out, there would be less demand for use of the city's isolation hospital, and a corresponding decrease in the expense of operating it.

Infant Mortality Low.

Infant mortality is considerably below the average for the registration area. The report comments on efforts being made by the Junior league. The natural death rate, however, is much larger than it should be, but can be reduced by better pre-natal and obstetrical care.

Dr Applewhite said that dairy sanitation remains one of the most serious problems of public health department. He urges that a greater portion of the department's budget be allocated to that work. While securing compliance with the new milk ordinance an assistant dairy inspector should be employed, he thinks.

"Analysis of gas and rat extermination is an economic rather than a health problem," the report states. As a result the expense of maintaining these activities should not be charged to the health department."

Clinical Work Praised.

The clinical services of the department are of high quality and economically administered. The report points out it has grown to a great extent during the depression, and asks after the depression has passed, "what then? Having received efficient treatment at the clinics will the patients return to their family physicians, or influence the authorities to maintain the clinics while they utilize funds ordinarily used to pay for medical attention, for other purposes?"

It is recommended that as soon as possible attention be given to development of a "broad public health program wherein consideration will be given to providing adequate medical care for the poor." But the department staff should not be required to "actually render medical and surgical treatment.

"The foundation of the department should be for preventive work. The working out of a program of medical relief for the indigent sick, if undertaken by the department should be but one of several important functions to be performed."

Discusses School Program.

The report contains a survey of the schools, the Red Cross, Junior league, county activities. In them are shown the duplications that result in "waste, and inefficiency."

The outstanding complaint of the entire report covering children concerns 1,000 children in parochial schools not coming under the public schools health activities. Closing the dental clinics "seems ill-advised. Arrangements should be made with the university, if possible, for this work to be made a part of the teaching in the dental college."

The county tuberculosis association has a broad program, but a hopelessly inadequate personnel. The medical and nursing service essential for proper control should be taken over by the health department, and funds of the association used for work in summer camps 'Control of tuberculosis is definitely a duty of a well organized health department, and should not be shifted to a volunteer organization"

Duplication Claimed.

The Red Cross nursing service duplicates that of the city in obstetrical cases, the report shows. This interferes with efficiency, as bedside nursing should be a function of the health department.

Concluding his report Dr. Applewhite says that the city and county in addition to consolidating their health efforts, should place the head of the health departments on a "definite whole-time basis and, if possible, appoint one man who shall be a physician well trained in public health, and with public health experience, to have complete control of all health work in the county."

The cost of such an organization should be on the basis of 50 cents or more per capita of population to be served Additional appropriations should be made for medical relief It also is advocated that the health activities of the schools except that of teaching in the class-room, be brought into the county-city program

Housewife Wires White House She Has Raised The Pay of Her Maid

WASHINGTON, July 25— (AP)

Among early telegrams received at the White House after the president's appeal for higher wages was one from a housewife in Great Neck, N. Y.

She wired that she had decided immediately to raise the pay of her maid "ten per cent."

JONES COMMENDS LIFE IN SYRIA

ple," Dr. Jones stated, "and I have never seen an attempt at flirting Those Syrians can teach Americans something about morals

"The Hindu parents decide marriage for the children, and the children shrug their shoulders The American children decide marriage for themselves and the parents shrug their shoulders. But in this colony of more than a million Syrians, both parents and children decide the marriage and nobody shrugs their shoulders," he said

At the morning sermon Dr. M E Gilbert, Methodist superintendent of the Omaha district, urged the flaunting of the Christian banner. "The life of Christ is such that it can be upheld as a standard and people will flock to it." The acid test of Christianity, he said, is the effect it has on people other than those who claim to be Christians

Appearing again at 2 30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Dr. PJones discussed a Christian creative program as an answer to communism He gave particular attention to the effect of such a program on society At 8 30 o'clock this evening, he will speak on the life and work of Mahatma Gandhi.

Janett Howard, deaconess of the Omaha city mission, was the speaker at the late afternoon meeting of the Women's Home Missionary society She discussed the work of the Omaha mission

During the morning the customary Bible study hour was provided for the children and Rev Winnie Gabrielson had charge of children's hour in the afternoon She showed a number of articles collected while she served as a missionary in India

"I WOULDN'T DRIVE A CAR WITHOUT Hydraulic Brakes!"

AN INTERVIEW WITH CAPT. FRANK DOUGHTY, 91 VESPER ST., PORTLAND, ME.

Look at the Brakes when you "look at All Three"

FOR 17 years, Capt. Doughty has sailed out of Portland harbor. Nowadays, you'll see him sailing around Portland streets in the Plymouth sedan that's pictured at the right.

Why a Plymouth? "Out at sea, a man has room to maneuver out of trouble," says the Captain. "On land . . . you have to be able to stop in your tracks!"

So hydraulic brakes win another friend. Because they "stop you on a dime." They are self-equalizing.

No other low-priced car offers you hydraulic brakes. No other low-priced car offers you the combination of Floating Power engine mountings, safety-steel bodies, rigid-X frame.

In short . . . no other low-priced car offers you the balance of comfort, safety, style and performance, and you have only to "look at all three" to find this out. Do that . . . before you buy.

"I know something about mechanics. And I'm proud to show my new Plymouth . . . because it's not only trim-looking but sturdy and dependable."

A SHOT AROUND THE WORLD

THE appeal made by President Franklin D. Roosevelt Monday night in an address directed to the American people, but more especially to business men in the nation, literally is a shot to be heard throughout the world.

It is unprecedented in American history, where departures from fixed customs and traditions have been frequent, and as a result, do not produce the shock and the uneasiness found in countries, where life is lived more in accordance with a pattern. But who could foresee a few years ago that the troubled and overburdened occupant of the White House would be appealing with every ounce of a stout, a gallant, and a very humanly sympathetic heart to his countrymen—to the employers—to place unemployed men back to work that they might support their wives and their children, and to raise wages that the depleted purchasing power of a nation might be restored!

Since assuming the responsibilities of the presidency, Mr. Roosevelt has injected many bold and startling notes in the thoughts of the American people—all with a single aim of social progress—but none takes rank with the plea to enlist a solid, united support for his recovery program. It upsets all pre-conceived notions of business and it contradicts the practical application of methods which have been in vogue virtually since the start of business in the United States. For the most part, industry and business have been giving lip service to the ideals so vigorously voiced by the president. There are exceptions to that statement. It should be said that in this country the employer has been more thoughtful, more sympathetic, more considerate, more genuinely humanitarian in his outlook and his attitude toward those working for him than in most nations of the world. That is true until a certain point, but when earnings or dividends have been jeopardized seriously, industry and business in the vast majority of cases applied the remedy of wage cutting and of other economies without compunction. The old rule was wages were the first to fall and the last to advance when improvement set in, and business came to accept that axiom as something sacred and holy, proved beyond question by sound conceptions of economics and by long experience.

NOW, Mr. Roosevelt, is asking business to discard its old ideas, and the methods which have been formulated in accordance with those principles, and to accept a new view of American life. It is new only as to method. For years, we have been saying that national welfare and prosperity rested upon the foundation of high purchasing power. Always heretofore, since 1900, the wealth of the people has been increasing, stimulating consumption, adding to purchasing power, providing markets for the products of the farms and the factories. Even those most interested from a selfish standpoint in seeing that those forces be kept alive have been none too analytical, too thoughtful, and too studious as to what was taking place. Suggestions of concentrated wealth, with the inevitable result of bleeding the masses white, usually met with a smile of pity or a sardonic grin.

All through that period since the start of the present century until the outbreak of the World war, America was opening up new lands, bringing new states into the union, building homes, carving farms out of frontiers, creating transportation systems, and witnessing the rise of flourishing cities. The problem of unemployment was simple then, and the question of increased purchasing power did not exist. We created jobs out of desolate wastes, and wealth came mysteriously but in huge quantities from settlement.

The America to which Mr. Roosevelt appealed is as different from the old one as his plea may be described as new and revolutionary. It is important for the American business man to weigh the changes that have taken place most carefully before he closes his eyes and pronounces critical judgment. What would he offer as a substitute? It is not possible that he would suggest the nation can continue to drag along indefinitely with millions of people jobless. Business itself cannot survive the slow but steady drain which has taken place over the last three years, with low price levels, without frightful fatalities. High price levels cannot be sustained without a restoration of mass purchasing power and advancing wage levels. Prices can be advanced, but the only effect, unless the other steps take place, will be to curtail buying even more rigidly and to add to the distress and the suffering.

BUSINESS asks, and the question is a natural and a pertinent one: "How can I pay more wages, and employ more people when the volume of trade today does not permit of profitable operation?"

It is at this point that the new deal makes its appearance. It calls for the abandonment of practices which have been wasteful and injurious, inefficient and costly. But most of all, it calls upon business to play for the highest stakes for which a nation ever has risked its treasures and its infinitely more precious asset of human life. The other alternative is clear. A portion will survive, secure in its riches, living comfortably and happily, but the welter of human misery, of shattered faith and hope, may in the end challenge the perpetuity of institutions dear to every thoughtful American. The call is to business, which already has sacrificed much, to sacrifice more, and in the additional sacrifice which is to be made to find stability and security through a revived purchasing power within a rich nation. We are not bankrupt: we have not exhausted our resources. The capacity for production was never equal to that which prevails today. After long, lean, hungry years, depleted shelves, empty warehouses, and farms and cities tumbling into disrepair, the need of consumption was never greater than it is at this time. Isn't that a strange paradox? There is the power to produce, and a great need for that which can be produced. Have we failed as ingloriously in the application of democratic ideals as other nations, utilizing different governmental methods, failed?

Not if a courageous warrior at Washington is able to rally American business to a new gospel. He is making a noble fight and from the response to his throbbing appeal, it appears that America is prepared to follow him in one of the greatest crusades undertaken in modern times.

SALVAGING LUSITANIA TREASURE.

AN ECHO of the Lusitania sinking comes in announcement from Chicago that Charles Courtney, president of the American Association of Master Locksmiths, shortly will complete the plan for salvaging the gold which was lost when the liner was torpedoed.

It also unearths a war secret. At the time the Lusitania sank, the ship's manifest listed no gold in the cargo. In recent years, it has been estimated that between 5 and 10 million dollars was being transported. The work of salvaging gold lost on ships sunk during the war has been successful to a remarkable degree. Two years ago, Mr. Courtney directed the salvaging of precious metal aboard the sunken liner Egypt. The plan to re-enter the Lusitania's hulk, resting on the ocean bottom off the Irish coast, is more pretentious, because the sinking took place in a region troubled with bad storms, and the waters are deeper there. It is believed, however, that the plan involved will meet these obstacles.

SIMON BOLIVAR.

THE visitor Monday in Caracas, picturesque and attractive capital of Venezuela, would have been the observer of a celebration which for color and enthusiasm probably equalled anything of the kind that ever took place. The country which he liberated from the yoke of Spain and brought into being as a sovereign state was paying homage to the memory of Simon Bolivar on the hundred and fiftieth anniversary of his birth.

Bolivar stands in the same relation to the people of northern and western South America that George Washington does to those of the United States, and it is significant that a statue of Washington stands on the principal boulevard of Caracas, while one of Bolivar is to be found in Central park, New York City.

While the man who is known as the Washington of South America was only 42 years old when he died, he had devoted fully half of those years to the cause of freedom, accomplishing more for that cause than was ever accomplished by any one man with the possible exception of Washington. He was the head and virtual dictator of no less than five countries whose independence he had won, but while he was idolized during the greater part of his career, his life was nevertheless full of disappointments and tragedy, and he was, because of jealousy and political conspiracies, compelled on different occasions to flee from his native Venezuela.

As a matter of fact his last years, during which he was suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, which finally caused his death, were spent in virtual disgrace, ostracism and poverty, and the only one present in the humble cottage in which he expired, with the exception of a couple of servants, was the woman who had shared his glories and his reversals for so many years.

Now in Caracas, where Bolivar was born, in the magnificent pantheon, there may be seen a superb mausoleum with three crypts. In the center one reposes the body of Bolivar, while on one side are the remains of General Sucre, his chief lieutenant, and one time president of Bolivia. The other was reserved for the bones of Miranda, but they were never found after his body was cast into the water following his death in a Spanish prison. Perhaps eventually the reserved space will be occupied by the body of President Gomez, who has preserved what Bolivar created.

Venezuela has done tardy, though ample justice to the man who made her free.

SWIMMING THE RAPIDS.

WILLIAM KONDRAT emerged safely from the boiling and swirling currents of Niagara rapids and whirlpools, which have lured more than one skilled swimmer to doom.

It is to be hoped that the young man is satisfied. He can thank luck for the fact he is alive today, although at eighteen, strong and brawny, a young man is apt to get a different notion of it. Better swimmers than Kondrat have been dashed against the rocks or drawn into the deep whirlpool never again to emerge from the waters.

There is no sound calculation to be reached about eddying currents in a swiftly flowing river. Years ago, during a destructive flood on the lower Blue, three young men set out to swim the stream directly below a dam. The most venturesome of the trio hadn't proceeded 40 yards before a terrific under-current seized him, drew him irresistibly toward the churning dam where the flood had all but evened the fall of water, and two minutes later, he was thrown against a tree nearly three blocks downstream, from whence he was rescued by boatmen.

Kondrat afterward said he felt himself being drawn into the whirlpool. What happened afterward, he could not tell. But when finally he was taken from the river, he was a half mile down the stream, more dead than alive, the fortunate child of a freak undertow or undercurrent of water.

PROBLEMS OF TAXATION.

ADJUSTING tax assesments on real estate so as to keep 93 counties on an approximate parity is the biggest job that the state board of equalization must perform every year. The task was rendered doubly difficult for 1933 because of the pressure for a general and substantial reduction, on one hand, to match the decline that has taken place in values of farm lands and urban properties, and the desire of many county officials, on the other, not to make the cuts too large for fear of decreasing available revenue below what they consider necessary.

There can be no valid criticism of the state board for adhering to the principle that all property shall be assessed and taxed in proportion to its fair value. To achieve that end, the board has no choice except to go through the list of valuations as returned from the different counties, use its best judgment in equalizing them, and fix the assessments accordingly.

It could not very well harken to the plea of officials in a particular county that their valuation be held to a higher figure than that for the rest of the state, so as to insure enough tax money to support the local governments. If that were done, it would mean that the people of any such county would have to contribute more than their fair share for support of the state government.

On the other hand, the state board could not permit real estate values of any county to remain on a lower proportionate basis than those of other counties similarly situated and with lands and lots of like character. That would have the effect to relieve taxpayers of the favored counties from part of the burden they should bear in maintaining the government of the commonwealth and its activities.

Changes made by the state board in local valuations should be accepted with good grace by the counties which are respectively raised or lowered. Members of the board have endeavored conscientiously to make the assessment fair and uniform throughout the state, taking into account all local conditions and the wide disparity in values due to differences in soil, climate, accessibility to markets, and other factors. They have no reason to discriminate for or against any county.

The situation is a perplexing one for all public officials charged with the duty of administering laws and rendering service to the citizens of Nebraska. With a grand assessment roll almost half a billion dollars less than a year ago, the yield in taxes is bound to be substantially smaller unless tax levies are greatly increased. Where counties, cities, villages, and school districts were already making the maximum levies allowed by law, their officials must find ways and means to operate on less revenue than before.

QUESTION.
Atlanta, Ga.
Have you ever read the autobiography of Clifford Whittingham Beers, entitled "A Mind That Found Itself," and if so, what do you think of it?

ANSWER.

It is a fascinating book related to an important movement and as useful today as when it was written in 1908. Dr. William H. Welch of Johns Hopkins university insists that the author has won the right to a hearing where ever he goes, and various political and academic authorities agree with that verdict. Mr. Beers tells us the story of his personal experiences while mentally sick thirty years ago, and in telling it he reveals phenomenal courage, vision and tenacity of purpose under exceedingly difficult circumstances.

To convert what seemed to be a wrecked career into one so beneficial that thousands of victims of impaired nerves and mental afflictions have profited by it was indeed a rare achievement, made possible through the enthusiastic interest and support which Mr. Beers has received from neurologists, psychiatrists, psychologists and educators of this and other countries.

He is deservedly esteemed not only as a writer and a constructive force in humane enterprise, but as the pioneer whose efforts crystallized in the first international conference on mental hygiene held at Washington in 1930. Fifty countries participated in its discussions, and an executive committee was appointed to continue its tasks and provide for future conferences. It is greatly to be hoped that all with mental disturbances will find an opportunity to read this book.

QUESTION.
Bridgeport, Conn.
Can we in the light of present economic and political conditions still continue to believe in democracy?

ANSWER.

What else have we to believe in? Every other form of government has been tried. Some endured for centuries, others had a shorter life, but all have been discarded at one time or another. Our American democracy has two distinguishing features: First, it began comparatively recently with the advantageous knowledge of previous experiments, and second it was the first attempt to apply the doctrines of popular sovereignty by representative government over a continental area.

When Lincoln made his Gettysburg address the preservation of this type of democracy furnished his apology for the sacrifices of the Civil war. I know that as an institution it is no longer as unchallengeable as it was. European states have deserted it for dictatorships. Fascism has abolished it in Italy, bolshevism has routed it in Russia, and many intelligent Britons and Americans are deeply disturbed about the outworkings of popular rule in their countries.

Unscrupulous financial and journalistic agencies have diverted its energies to wrong causes. Doctoring the news can take place even in lands that would not tolerate censorship. Prejudice and passion may be disguised in various ways. Ignorance is flattered for the sake of securing votes. What citizens ought to hear is frequently supplanted by that which tickles the vanity of the unwary. Majority votes are as often wrong as right, and minority groups feel helpless in the presence of more numerical strength.

Some thinkers urge that the world is not yet prepared to bear the responsibilities of self control, and they adduce in proof the bewilderment of some of its leading peoples. Yet when all objections have been weighed I affirm the faith of our citizens in their republic. They do not question its scope or capacity so much as they desire its more competent representation in politics. And this they cannot have until they rise to a higher level of political diligence themselves. By no evidence perceptible to me are Americans disposed to try any other form of government than the one they possess.

QUESTION.
Lansing, Mich.
Since capitalism lacks leadership and technocracy is out of the game, shall we have to take on communism?

ANSWER.

Judging from the latest presidential election returns, the citizens of this republic have no such intention. The system we inherit is a complicated one and the evils injected into it by human greed and selfishness are plainly visible. They excite righteous indignation in countless men and women who have been injured by them. But, no matter what capitalism has done or failed to do, it is infinitely superior to any form of communism extant.

Republican principles are at the farthest remove from those of the Russian soviet. They guarantee the individual his personal rights so long as those do not conflict with the higher rights of the community. They prevent him from becoming a mere helot of the state, and enable him to fulfill his duty in regard to its political control and to the religion he prefers.

Perhaps you have noticed that, under pressure of necessity, Russia has reluctantly reintroduced the capitalistic system to a measurable degree thus demonstrating that theoretical communism is not practical in our age. If it cannot flourish in a country so habituated to servile obedience as Russia, how can it be made to flourish in a country so habituated to servile obedience as Russia, how can it be made to flourish in a nation of freemen?

I have not mentioned its hostility to religion, nor its avowed antagonism to all concepts of government differing from its own. Quite apart from these, I do not believe that English-speaking peoples anywhere on earth will surrender their hard-won liberties to an arrogant organization, existing by force, which makes the person of every living being in it the absolute property of whatever group chances to command that force. If Americans choose to do so they can reform abuses, abolish evils, expel unworthy representatives and make their democracy function more beneficially. But these salutary measures depend on the national character.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

CAUSE OF MUCOUS COLITIS DIRECTS TREATMENT ORDERED.

In treating colitis, several forms of the disease must be considered. One is spastic colitis, which sometimes becomes mucous colitis, and the other is ulcerative colitis.

Dr Clendening

Before the treatment of mucous colitis is started, it is advisable to try to find the cause. This sometimes lies in dietary indiscretions or the habitual use of purgatives. Sometimes the general bodily form induces it; very frequently mental states, nervousness, and an excitable emotional condition will induce it.

The general indications for diet in these cases are, first, to irritate the colon as little as posible; second, to keep the general nutrition of the patient at par; and, third, to provide adequate elimination. No one single diet can be prescribed for all such cases. Some patients have to have an absolutely smooth, non-irritating diet. The essential feature of this is that coarse foods with fiber, seeds, skin and gristle should not be allowed, nor should salads, tomatoes, pineapple, cucumbers, raw fruit or too much sugar. Frequently, however, one meets the patient who, on this smooth, non-irritating diet, does not obtain enough elimination, and fruits and salads have to be added. Drugs should play little part in the treatment of the disease, and purgatives and laxatives absolutely withheld.

In the treatment of ulcerative colitis, dietic regulations play an important part. There have been some modifications of our views within the last few years. Whereas, formerly we gave an absolutely non-residue diet, of late years it has been found that a high vitamin content of the diet is valuable. Therefore, tomato juice and cod liver oil, oranges, orange juice and lemonade are sometimes added.

The use of acidophilus milk is also beneficial in both these types of colitis. Careful studies have been made upon the number of bacteria in the intestines before and after using acidophilus milk. The milk, if properly given and sufficiently potent, will usually change the putrefactive organisms into a more beneficial aceturic form. It also reduces fermentation and gas.

In the atonic type of colonic disease—ordinary atonic constipation—which is usually symptomless and produces few, if any, changes in nutrition, the type of diet should be entirely reversed. A diet consisting of an increasing amount of roughage in the form of fruit, bran, green vegetables, and sometimes accompanied by mineral oil, is indicated. Salads and such vegetables as contain a large amount of fibre, such as cabbage, celery, radishes, corn and all fruits are beneficial. The use of bitter chocolate, as advised by Cohnheim, has been recommended as being extremely helpful in the correction of constipation. Three or four ounces should be consumed daily for this purpose. The patient is given one and one-half ounces in the morning before breakfast and a similar amount at bedtime, to be followed by three or four ounces of water.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

STARTING FROM HERE.

Who cries: "We're starting over!"
I remember long ago
A score of treasured friendships
that we hadn't come to know.
Though we were young and hopeful when our fight for fame began.
We'd less of faith and wisdom to support our little plan.

Who says we've fallen backwards?
Here we are and here we stay.
Proud possessors still of treasures we have gathered on the way.
It is true we've lost some money, but we will not have it told
In the years that lie behind us we've been working just for gold.

Who's the poor man of the morning?
Just the starveling soul who thought
Alone of yellow money and the tawdry stuff it bought.
Chance has stripped his purse of dollars and he's sorely now bereft.
If he looks his long life over and discovers nothing left.

But we've friends to aid and counsel and we've faith to hold us fast.
We have countless happy memories we can cherish to the last.
We are older, yes, and wiser in the lore of peace and pain.
And with all the years have taught us we can go to work again.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The Strange Smell

Of things unknown 'tis well to be
Suspicious 'till of doubt you're free.

—Mother Bear.

How Betty Bear did love blueberries. It seemed to her that there could be nothing nicer in all the Geat Wold. When she was in a blueberry patch she was as nearly happy as any small person very well could be. And this year was a blueberry year. There was one place where the Red Terror, which men call fire, had burned over a large area two or three years before, and it is on burned-over ground that blueberries grow best. This year the ground where the Red Terror had burned was as it laid with a carpet of blue. Even wise old Mother Bear sometimes forgot to always be on guard when in the midst of that berry patch.

Usually they visited it very early in the morning, just after jolly, round, red Mr. Sun began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky, or very late in the afternoon, just as he was going to bed behind the Puple Hills. But one day it was late in the morning before they got there. As usual, Mother Bear sat up and looked this way and that way and listened, and with her nose tested all the scents that the Merry Little Breezes brought to her. And, of course, Betty Bear did the same thing. It was part of her training. It was thus that she was being educated in the things that a well informed Bear should know.

They saw nothing and heard nothing and smelled nothing of which to be at all suspicious, and presently were too busy gathering and eating berries to think of anything else. They wandered here and there, until they were some distance from where they had entered the great berry patch, which almost covered the lower side of the Great Mountain. And in wandering about they became separated. But Betty Bear was big enough not to be at all worried by this. She knew that when they had had their fill and it was time to leave for a nap, Mother Bear would find her.

Never had berries been sweeter or bigger or bluer. Betty Bear could have eaten her fill in one small spot, but, like most people, she was always looking for something better than what she had. The berries just beyond or off to one side always looked bigger than those where she was. So she wandered this way and that.

At last she came to something that made her snort with surprise and very suddenly sit up and stare. It was a queer shiny thing under a bush. She walked all around that bush to look at that shiny thing from every side. Never had she seen anything like it. She is naturally full of curiosity, and never in her short life had she been so curious as she was now. What could it be? It looked harmless it didn't move. She wished Mother Bear was there to tell her what it was. But Mother Bear wasn't.

But one day it was late in the morning before they got there

Betty Bear ventured a few steps nearer and looked and looked. Then she went a few steps nearer and sat up. She could look down now on that shiny thing, and what she saw made her forget everything else. That shiny thing was full of the biggest and bluest berries. There they were, all picked, just inviting her to come and eat them. It was too good to be true. She had never known berries to grow that way, but there were many things she didn't know. For a long minute she blinked at them. Then she dropped to her feet again and cautiously drew nearer, her small nose thrust out as she sniffed.

Yes, they were blueberries. There was no doubt about it. She reached out a small paw and touched that shiny thing and hastily withdrew that small paw. Nothing happened. That shiny thing was harmless. She reached out again, and this time struck it. It tipped over, and this startled her into a hasty retreat for a few steps. Then she sat down and stared at it. Once more she ventured near it. Those berries had spilled out in a great blue heap. Betty Bear's greedy eyes danced with excitement. She looked hard at that tin pail, for that is what it was. Still it didn't move. She reached forward and sniffed. There was the smell of blueberries, and with them was another smell, a strange smell that gave her an uneasy feeling. Just why, she didn't know.

Wheat Prices

Crab Orchard, Neb., July 24.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: This country is on a domestic basis in so far as wheat is concerned and dollar wheat on the farm anywhere in the wheat belt is not too high, when that figure really will do more to bring about normal prosperous conditions than any one other thing. Hundreds of thousands of small investors throughout the grain belt and elsewhere knowing this and knowing that the aim of the administration and all right thinking citizens was to try bring about normal conditions, began to buy wheat some two or three months ago while the Chicago price was around 50 cents per bushel. With this new force coming into the market prices began to advance, the advance being fought every step of the way by the professional speculator.

On this advance the professional speculator has made no money, being by nature a bear who continually works for lower prices. During this advance from time to time the professional operator has sold wheat short, but on each occasion was put to rout by the amateur speculator. As the price neared the dollar mark on the farm, the professional realized that his time had come to even up the score. Ideals or patriotism or a square deal for agriculture just does not exist for the professional speculator, thus the greatest debacle in grain prices in modern times, counting hours of time.

The four hundred fifty million of new wheat and the three hundred fifty million old wheat just make a safe amount for home needs and safe margin of reserves, hence a domestic basis and less than one dollar per bushel on the farm does not make for normal times. The aim of every right minded citizen to this end it becomes a legislative duty to outlaw short selling. Selling something you do not own either by purchase or production is inconsistent and makes for instability and should be outlawed. After a stable dollar, the next objective should be stable prices for commodities based on the cost of production, to this end short selling must be curbed. G. B. KOLLER.

A Consistent Opponent.

Lincoln, Neb July 22.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Senator Brundt, of Fairbury, in his chagrin because Governor Bryan reveals a reluctancy to permit him to dish up patronage in Jefferson county, ought sing mighty low.

The senator left behind him last winter, a record for persistent opposition to anything and everything he thought the governor might favor. In fact, that was his chief engagement throughout the winter. He took delight in promoting republican schemes to undermine a sick governor. Why his antagonism? Go down into Jefferson county and you will be told why.

The senator fails to understand that only because of a landslide, was he permitted to sit in the state senate. Why the governor should yield to him a single favor, considering his record together with that of at least two of the other senators who were in open rebellion throughout the last legislative session, is inconceivable. A careful perusal of the senate roll calls will clearly establish the fact that Senator Brundt was interested in just one purpose last winter—harpooning Governor Bryan. He now wants the governor to permit him to pass the pie. Wouldn't that jar your conception of the eternal fitness of the senator's duty to go way back and lie down?

AN OBSERVING DEMOCRAT.

Better O Street.

Lincoln, Neb., July 24.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: At last it seems we have reason to hope that O street will be straightened from the viaduct west. Of all the improvements mentioned as possible for Lincoln under the relief act, it seems O street should come first. It has for years been the dream of the planning commission and other civic interests to eliminate the obsolete twists and turns and provide a respectable entrance to the city from the west.

Hughes recently visited Russia. Police who questioned 11 Japanese visitors suspected of being communists at Hughes' hotel, "suggested" that the American leave Japan immediately.

Pulling Up Stakes

BY FRANK D. TOMSON.

When the van backs up to your door step and lets its broad endgate down, revealing a yawning interior and you recall that for twenty years you have called this place your home, there's a strange feeling that comes over you. You don't quite like it a full one hundred per cent. It would be a simple matter to move away if the town and the neighborhood hadn't treated you with an attitude of consideration and generosity. But when you review the near twenty years and recall that during these happy years only the finest things that a community can offer have been accorded you without limitation or obligation, you find yourself doing only half a job at loading the van: I wonder if there is anywhere such a community as this one we call Lincoln. Certainly there is none that excels it. What a fine experience to have lived here and had a part in its affairs. The memories that attend the moving out and away will long endure.

Did the reader ever spend days in the packing up process. It is an interesting undertaking. Possessions long hidden away are uncovered. One thing that impressed me was the vast quantity of cancelled checks, thirty-four pounds of them, that came down from the attic. I had often asked Mrs. Tomson what became of all the money we had earned, or said we earned. Here was the answer, great bundles of them. When handling a box full of receipts something gave a metallic sound. We dug down in and there was a silver dollar, quite tarnished but the ear marks were discernible. "Lucky boy." I said and dropped it in my pocket. I noticed that Mrs. Tomson kept rummaging through the box and pretty soon with an expression of glee she held up another one. She kept it. Next came a large container filled with photographs, most of them dating back—way back. Baby and childhood pictures of our folks now with babies of their own. One get's a sort of feeling looking them over that's different. You laugh occasionally. I did, particularly when some of my wife's early sittings came forth. Yet she became even boisterous when a few well-meant poses of my own were dusted off. I noticed one thing the rest of the family always laughed when Mother did. Probably a natural tendency to diplomacy—Maybe not.

FRANK TOMSON.

Here are large heaps of things that have been preserved for years and years—priceless possessions. You look them over hastily and shove them aside—into the discard. Gradually you select those articles that are to go with you into the new home. Too many. You sort again and distribute among the members of the family, what they can use, or think they can. Now and then a little pang is felt as something that has in a sense been a part of you is alloted to someone else. Finally the distribution is completed and the van awaits. Packing day is over and your own car is backed out. You have stuffed it full with odds and ends. You and your ever faithful wife take one parting survey, each avoiding the other's look. You do not comment except perhaps to say: "I guess we've got everything that's to go," or something like that, and turn the car down the street that leads away from the countless experiences never to be forgotten—and toward the places where many anticipations center. On a distant hill we pause and looking back discern the capitol tower bathed in golden brilliance by the rays of the setting sun. It is a scene of inspiring beauty. We resume our journey—but we do not talk. We only have our thoughts.

Honoring Mr. . .d Mrs. Ernest Lindemann, whose marriage took place last Friday in Omaha, Mr. Lindemann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lindemann, and Mrs. Lindemann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pitchford of Fullerton, will have a reception Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lindemann 303 South Twenty-sixth street. Fifty guests have been invited, and will be met at the door by Mrs. Ralph C. Grubb and Don Lindemann, and introduced to the receiving line which will include the bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Pitchford and Mr. and Mrs. Lindemann. Summer flowers will be used throughout the living rooms, and the refreshment table in the dining room will be centered with pink roses and baby breath. Presiding at the table will be Miss Georgia Pitchford and Miss Dorothy Pitchford. Miss Virginia Pitchford and Miss Esther Hays will assist with the serving. The guests will be directed to the dining room by Mrs. Melvin Albert. Miss Harriett Woodman will have charge of the guest book, and Miss Rosamond Wigton of the gift room. Miss Lucile Reilly will sing a group of songs during the evening.

Out of town guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Pitchford and family of Fullerton, and Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Hays of Ansley.

ESTALENE GAER AND MARVIN HUDLESON WED

The marriage of Miss Estalene Gaer, daughter of Mrs. Edith L. Gaer of Duff, and Marvin D. Hudleson of Omaha took place Friday at 8 o'clock in the Benson Christian church in Omaha. The Rev. Ralph Tietsort read the service.

Miss Alice Tietsort accompanied Miss Ilene Hudleson who sang, "I Love You Truly" and played the Lohengrin entrance music.

The bride's attendant was Miss Marie Hudleson, the groom's sister, as maid of honor. She was frocked in blue crepe and carried pink roses.

Kent Gaer, brother of the bride, was the best man. Roger Chastain and Woodrow Tietsort were the ushers.

Mrs. Hudleson wore white crepe, and carried bride's roses.

A reception followed at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Soper.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudleson left by motor for Chicago to attend the Century of Progress exposition. They will return to St. Paul, Neb., to reside.

Mr. Hudleson is a graduate of Cotner college.

WIFE IS READY TO PAY RANSOM

Oklahoma Officers Called Off to Assure Urschel's Safe Return.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25—(AP)—The investigation of the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, was at a standstill today as the family called off the forces of the law in an effort to encourage the abductors to communicate their price for Urschel's safe release.

CHARLES F. URSCHEL.

R. H. Colvin, chief of the United States bureau of investigation here, ordered a 24-hour recess in the hunt, commenting:

"Our only interest at this time is the safe return of Mr. Urschel."

This action was taken at the earnest request of Mrs. Berenice Slick Urschel, distraught at lack of word from the kidnapers.

Through the press, she promised the captors she was not interested in their prosecution but "only in the safe return of my husband."

Rely on Seeligson.

Meanwhile, the family relied on Arthur A. Seeligson, trustee with Mr. and Mrs. Urschel for the huge oil fortune left by Tom B. Slick, her first husband, to conduct negotiations with the kidnapers.

Seeligson, brother-in-law of Slick, as was Urschel before the death of his first wife, was hastening here by train from North Carolina.

Urschel and a friend, Walter R. Jarrett, were kidnaped from the Urschel home Saturday night as they were playing cards. Jarrett later was released and was reported to have identified a police photograph as that of one of the kidnapers. The name of the man identified was not made public.

REMONSTRANCE APPEAL GROWS

Fifty Workers Reported Getting Signatures Against 3.2 Beer.

Members of the beer remonstrance petition committee reported Tuesday afternoon that the work is progressing "very encouragingly." Information from the committee headquarters in the Y. W. C. A. indicated that approximately fifty workers are engaged in precinct solicitation for signers.

L. O. Jones, publicity chairman for the anti-Lincoln-beer movement, stated that the committee expects to place an additional number of campaigners in the field within the next few days and urged those interested to get in touch with headquarters.

A meeting of the committee of fifteen has been scheduled for 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. to discuss the work and hear preliminary reports regarding the number of signers. More than 9,000 signers are needed to prevent the issuing of beer licenses in the city.

MOST TEACHERS GET EMPLOYMENT

Reduction of Personnel Leaves Few Without Positions.

Superintendent Lefler told the board of education Tuesday that all except three or four teachers have been absorbed here for the coming year despite the 35 person reduction recently effected. The painless cut has been achieved through resignations of instructors intending to leave, and other means, Mr. Lefler stated.

It is possible that these three or four may be placed by September 1 if the superintendent has guessed too closely and finds it necessary to re-employ, he stated. This could be done through the $3,000 to $4,000 allowed for the emergency fund. Besides that, the number will be given first consideration on the supply list. "It is not our desire to add to the unemployment," said the superintendent.

The board instructed its attorney to defend the district in the test suit brought by State Supt. Taylor. Mr. Taylor asks a declaratory judgment to interpret the law in regard to paying the tuition of children whose parents are in the federal employ.

The board approved filing of an appeal from the state auditor's decision and posting of a $200 bond if necessary. State Auditor Price refused to allow deficiency claims for a total of $358.50, passed by the last legislative session to pay this tuition.

Approval was given the action of a committee from the board allowing the county commissioners occupation of the Bryant school building for relief purposes a week before the lease begins August 1.

Resignation of Beulah Deeter Davis was accepted and Alice Kimsey's name was added to the eligible list of office assistants. Miss Kimsey's name was omitted from a previous list through oversight.

Paris Advices Tell the Why of Vines' Defeat

American Champion Nervous Wreck From Strain of Over-Tennis

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, July 25 — (INS) — "Ellsworth Vines, physically and nervously ill because of his boyish seriousness..."

So runs a non-partisan, eye-witness account of what took place there in the hot, white sun of Auteuil on Sunday afternoon when a frail, highly-strung young American pitched forward on his face and lay still, to end the inter-zone Davis cup final with England. The collapse, it seems, was inevitable. He'd already given more than he had.

There Ought To Be A Law.

That much, notably the part about the "boyish seriousness," may be hearsay. Put this much is clear: There ought to be a law.

Nothing can justify the system of lawn tennis in America for what it is doing to impressionable, sometimes unstable young men who are unfortunate enough to have the ability to attract its attention.

This is no more true of what it did to Vines on Sunday, than what it is doing and will do to hundreds of others from middle-class homes who suddenly find themselves leading a life of ease and refinement at exclusive clubs and never fully recover.

Somewhere about the age of 30, they are given every chance to recover, tennis no longer being interested in them, either as competitors or human beings. And by that time neither is life.

But Lott Didn't Mean It.

These, roughly speaking, are the "tennis bums" about whom George Lott once spoke so feelingly in announcing that henceforth he was through. But George, it seems, was only deluding himself. He wasn't through then and he isn't. Like a great many others, he's apparently waiting for tennis to make his decision for him, which it will very abruptly do in a few years.

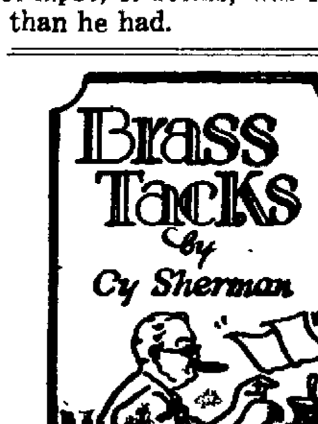

As for Vines, the worst that can be said is that the game made a man of him before his time—it may even have made an old man of him now. When he collapsed the other day at Roland Garros stadium, not a few people felt that he might never be the same again. This possibility would be humorous if it wasn't a little tragic. The man isn't quite 22.

They say he meant to turn professional in a few months if he kept his world's championship intact at Wimbledon and in the Davis cup matches and something of this sort may have preyed on his mind. But I doubt if this was comparable to the strain he felt in connection with the knowledge that a nation of the Americans were looking to him to bring back the Davis cup, strictly as an individual.

High Emotional Pitch.

Hardly more than a boy, he must have been keyed up to a highly emotional pitch, for by the very nature of things, tennis is an emotional game. This naturally works both ways against any invading competitor at Auteuil, with its violent atmosphere and unfamiliar surface. That is, an emotional man cannot play his best tennis at Auteuil; whereas, a stolid man cannot play really good tennis anywhere.

Vines himself attributes his collapse to the fact that he sat out in the sun too long watching the other match, which is about what a boy would do. But it is typical of tennis and its air of manipulating puppets that it was grown men in charge of the team who let him do it.

THE complete rout of Vines and Allison by the British duo, Austin and Perry, in the Davis cup inter-zone final, is a staggering blow to American prestige in lawn tennis.

Although the form sheet, based on past performances, indicated an American triumph, at least by Vines in both of his singles matches, the defeat was so crushing that only one explanation seems to fit, to-wit:

The training of the Americans at Paris was badly bungled and a new deal in U. S. L. T. A. affairs must be ushered in if Uncle Sam's representatives are to regain possession of the trophy, emblematic of international supremacy in the net sport.

French critics, the press dispatches say, are outspoken in their charge that the Yankees were over-trained and there must be something to it, inasmuch as there was nothing in the record book to indicate that either Austin or Perry had license to cope with a Vines who was at his best.

AUSTIN, I recall, was decisively defeated by Vines in the Wimbledon finals of 1932, while Perry was humbled time and again by the lanky Californian during the British player's tour of America last summer.

The "over-training" explanation duplicates the situation of 1932, when the Americans went to the challenge round and were turned back by the defending Frenchmen, three matches to two.

Tennis followers will recall that Bill Tilden warned the Yankee squad against repeating the mistakes of last year, but the "high hats" of the U. S. L. T. A. ignored Bill's advice and even spurned his offer to make a special trip to Paris for the sole purpose of coaching the American representatives.

Tilden might have been a substantial aid to the Yankee team, as what he doesn't know about preparing for Davis cup competition isn't in the book, but the nabobs of tennis apparently are intent only on continuing their control of the racquet sport—so intent that regaining the cup is a minor consideration.

THE reform wave which swept over eastern football last year, accompanied by professions that certain evil practices were on their way out of the athletic structure at several institutions in the Atlantic sector, apparently was just another empty gesture. The east is at it again, indulging in the bad habits which have immured its football in the muck and mire of semi-professionalism.

One of the prominent eastern schools climbed to the house tops to proclaim that it had seen the light and purposed to outlaw every practice which violated the ethics of strict amateurism. Its first move was to dispense with the services of its high-priced ($15,000 per annum) coach. The next step was to serve notice that no longer would it tolerate proselyting.

But the reformers evidently were talking for publication only. The school to which I refer has gigged back on its promises by giving assent to a pre-season training session for its 1933 football squad, which means but one thing—its athletics soon will be back in the old rut, the lid being off to the return of the former practices which made such a farce of its professions of amateurism.

BUT if I were asked to nominate the most flagrant offenders against the standards and ethics of decent college athletics, the little schools, rather than the ones of large enrollment, would be the ones I would be compelled to name in my indictment.

Jealous of the prestige of the larger institutions in athletics, many of the smaller college regularly indulge in athletic practices which represent the last word in audacity.

As for instance: The average small college authorizes members of its coaching staff to scour the country for students, paying the traveling expenses of the coaches in their summer search for athletic material.

I have in mind the case of a Nebraska college which, at the present moment, is reputed to be offering free tuition, plus employment sufficient to cover living expenses, to two promising athletes in a Nebraska town.

AND, coming nearer home, a squad of former athletes at Cotner college, which closed its doors recently, is reputed to be headed in a body in the direction of another Nebraska college.

The hook, I have been assured, has been baited with similar offers of free tuition and employment, despite the fact that the school, a denominational institution, is a member of a conference which professes to enforce rules and regulations forbidding and condemning special favors to athletes.

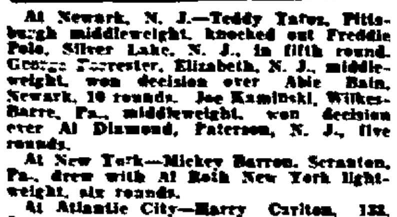

When I say "audacity," I mean exactly that—and nothing else but. As a sample of brazen disregard of decency in athletics, I cite the case of a small college coach who, in his desire to corral a promising athlete, pursued the boy to the campus of a rival institution, even seeking to entice him while the youth was in line at the registrar's office. Possibly this was not audacity. It may have been merely athletic outlawry, a minor offense in small college circles.

Legion Benefit Game Tonight Under Arcs

Gooch's Best and Iowa-Nebraska Power, top teams in the City amateur baseball league, will play an exhibition game tonight at Landis Field, starting at 8:30. The game is sponsored by the American Legion in an effort to raise funds to send the drum corps to the state convention at Kearney.

Contrary to first announcements, the game will have no bearing on the City league standings, as it will be purely an exhibition affair. The same teams will play their league game Thursday evening as scheduled.

Al Bool a major league catcher for several seasons, likely will be in the box for the Powermen, while Johnny Meyers, undefeated in the league, probably will draw the assignment for Gooch's.

At Newark, N. J.—Teddy Yates, Pittsburgh middleweight, knocked out Freddie Polo, Silver Lake, N. J., in fifth round. George Forrester, Elizabeth, N. J., middleweight, won decision over Abie Bain, Newark, 10 rounds. Joe Kaminski, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., middleweight, won decision over Al Diamond, Paterson, N. J., five rounds.

At New York—Mickey Barron, Scranton, Pa., drew with Al Roth New York lightweight, six rounds.

At Atlantic City—Harry Carlton, 132, Jersey City, drew with Lew Raymond, 136, Baltimore, 10 rounds. Frankie Carlton, 137, Jersey City, won decision over Buster Brown, 137, Baltimore, 10 rounds; Jack Portney, 134, Baltimore, won decision over Emil Rossi, 128, New York, 10 rounds.

At Portland, Me.—Elmer Bisaul, 145½, Portland, won decision over Tommy Romano, 160½, Boston, 10 rounds.

At Charleston, S. C.—Rufus Miles, Charlotte, N. C., 140, knocked out Tug Phillips, Erie, Pa., 147, in Sixth round.

At Sioux City—Young Righemeier, Sioux City, won newspaper decision over Bobby O'Dowd, Cedar Rapids, Ia., six rounds. Tommy Corbett, Omaha, won newspaper decision over Midget Mexico, Dallas, six rounds. Kenny Kent, Portland, Ore., 153, knocked out Ray Mann, Sioux City, 150, in third round. Keith Weaver, Moville, Ia., 125, won newspaper decision over Howard Ryan, Sioux Falls, S. D., 171, four rounds. Glenn Lee, Omaha, 182, won newspaper decision over Ed Jose Morales, Dallas, Tex., 130, four rounds. Johnny Rarr, Thurston, Neb., 130, won newspaper decision over Joe Arnold, Omaha, 130, four rounds.

At Asheville, N. C.—Corn Griffin, Fort Benning, Ga., 187½, stopped Buck Everett, Gary, Ind., 183½, in third round. Carl Knowles Rome, Ga., 167, won decision over Harry Allen, New York, 173½, 10 rounds.

At Jersey City, N. J.—Joey Ferrando, Ashtabula, O., 133, won decision over Pete Galiotta, Newark, 137, 10 rounds; Leo Cath, Florida, knocked out Andy Dawson, Hawaii, in second round.

SENATORS BACK IN FIRST PLACE

Griffmen Hammer Aces of A's Staff and Win Double Bill.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER.

NEW YORK, July 25— (AP) — Through the once impregnable pitching armor of the Philadelphia Athletics' twin mound aces, Bob Grove and George Earnshaw, the Washington Senators have blasted their way once more to the top of the American league standing.

Taking advantage of the New York Yankees' idleness, the Senators battered the A's into defeat in both games of a doubleheader yesterday, 5-2 and 10-6, and moved into first place by a half game margin. The third-place Athletics, at the same time fell to a point 11 games behind the Yankees, thus emphasizing once more the two-club character of the pennant race.

Even Grove Goes Bump.

Grove, who had won six games in a row, was the victim of bunched hits in the second and fourth innings. The Senators scored three runs in the second on four safeties and two in the fourth, coupling three hits with an error. Grove's defeat was his fifth against 15 victories. Bob Burke, who has started only three games for Washington all year and won them all, allowed only two hits in the five innings he worked, one a home run by Mickey Cochrane, but was relieved by Jack Russell after Roger Cramer singled and Cochrane walked with none out in the sixth. Russell halted that threat and allowed only two hits the rest of the way, one being Bob Johnson's tenth homer.

Earnshaw Also Punished.

The Senators drubbed Earnshaw for 11 hits and eight runs in seven innings in the second game which wouldn't even have been close except for a five-run rally, climaxed by Jimmie Foxx's twenty-eighth homer in the ninth. Alvin Crowder pitched his fourteenth victory, but lost control in the sixth and was replaced by Bill McAfee, young relief ace. McAfee retired the side then without a score, but his later exertions at the plate where he produced a triple and a home run, took their toll in the ninth and Russell again had to be summoned after the A's had scored five times.

This doubleheader marked the only competition in either league, but the National circuit reached the headlines when the St. Louis Cardinals announced the appointment of Frank Frisch to succeed Gabby Street as Cardinal manager

Turmoil Breaks Out In Gear's Ball Loop

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 25—(AP)—Western league affairs became more muddled when G. C. "Red" Wilson, manager of the Muskogee club, announced he would follow the action of the Springfield club and protest the last three games his club lost to Topeka.

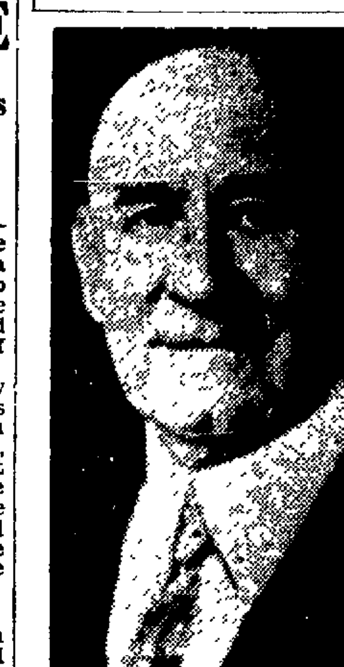

"I counted 10 veterans on their club," Wilson said. "The league limit is seven."

Topeka won two games from Muskogee Sunday and one Saturday night.

Springfield filed a protest with Dale Gear, league president, Sunday when defeated twice by Omaha. Springfield charged Omaha with using 12 veterans.

Wilson said he talked with Luther Shirley, Muskogee president, over the telephone soon after arriving here and that Shirley ordered him to file the protest.

Waves Big Stick.

Thomas Jefferson Hickey, 71-year-old president of the American Association, is just beginning to get really hard-boiled Within a single week, President Hickey hung suspensions on two club managers on charges of rowdyism. Mr. Hickey made his start in professional baseball as an executive of Lincoln's Western league club—and that was nearly 40 years ago.

PESEK WINS IN STRAIGHT FALLS

Ravenna Tiger Gets His Man With Ease In Main Event.

MONDAY NIGHT RESULTS.

John Pesek, Ravenna, 198, beat Bobby Burns, 204, in straight falls, 23 00 and .30.

Earl Wade, Norfolk, 185 and "Rough-House" Nelson, Hamilton, Can., 195, drew in 30 minutes, Nelson winning first fall in 18:00 and Wade the second in 2 30

Johnny Krieger, Lincoln, 165, and Young Ed Lewis, Los Angeles, 184, drew in 20 minutes.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

If there was any "real shooting" in the rassling program at the state fair grounds arena Monday night, the big guns were loaded with little more than bird-shot. A house comfortably filled with customers drawn by the Pesek-Zbyszko magnet, was doomed to disappointment. In the first place, Zbyszko failed to put in an appearance, and in the second place the promise of some real wrestling was forgotten by several of the grapplers who resorted to the slapping, biting circus tactics of the previous hippodromes.

Failure of Zbyszko to put in an appearance was explained by the management in the reading of a telegram carrying the news the grappler had been injured in an automobile smash.

Burns Twice Pinned.

Bobby Burns, the "keed" from Chicago, was substituted for Zbyszko and proved an adept stooge for Pesek. The Nebraska Tigerman permitted his younger opponent to set the pace during the first 10 minutes, breaking a great assortment of holds with the strength of an ox and the agility of a cat. Aim scissors, keylock and wristlock, they all looked the same to John who finally executed a slam and top scissors to gain the first fall after 23 minutes of showmanship. The second fall required just 30 seconds. A toe-hold had Burns calling enough.

The semi-windup between Rough-House Nelson and Earl Wade was a mixture of old and new tactics. Nelson won the first fall after 18 minutes. A punch to the stomach in a neutral corner dropped Wade to the mat and another tap below the belt finished it.

Quit Their Rough Stuff.

They abandoned the rough stuff after the first fall and Wade came back to combine a head scissors and wristlock to square the match in 2 minutes 30 seconds. They went the rest of the 30-minute period without a third fall.

Referee Johnny Reigert at this stage of the proceedings added a touch of comedy by hoisting Nelson's arm at the end of the bout. The crowd turned loose a chorus of booes and the announcer rushed to the ring to explain "the referee had called it a draw, but meant to also hold up Wade's arm."

Johnny Krieger, local pride, spotted Young Ed Lewis nearly 20 pounds and gained a draw. Barefooted Ed kicked young Johnny in the pit of his anatomy and the rough stuff started. Then they slapped, kicked and scratched for the entertainment of the throng.

TENNIS NABOBS PUT ON GRIDDLE

Western Delegates Plan Demand Showdown on Blowup of Team.

NEW YORK, July 25—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines' now-famous fainting spell on the red clay courts of Auteuil may be the starting point for an intensive investigation into this country's Davis cup tennis training methods.

While newspaper observers, here and abroad, continued their attacks on the methods of Bernon S. Prentice, team captain, and charged that America's two singles aces, Vines and Wilmer Allison, were overtrained and worked up to an excessive nervous pitch for the interzone finals against England, there were indications that a full explanation for the team's collapse would be demanded at the next annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

There was not a little criticism of America's Davis cup methods at the last meeting and the new president, Harry S. Knox, and western delegates, especially, are expected to force discussion of the debacle of Auteuil upon the convention floor.

The wrecking of American hopes to regain the Davis cup generally was blamed on the pressure placed on the players, over-confidence and finally the apparently poor condition of Vines and Allison.

Vines' Injury Not Permanent.

PARIS, July 25—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., and Bernon S. Prentice, captain of the United States Davis cup team, today denied published reports that the ankle injury suffered by Vines in his match with Fred Perry Sunday might result in permanent injury.

Both said no specialist had examined Vines, as was reported, and the doctor who attended him after the match did not suggest the injury was a permanent one.

The report was that Vines might be forced to wear a brace and a high shoe for tennis play hereafter.

Answering French criticism that the United States team was overtrained when it was defeated by England in the interzone final, Prentice said he believed the reverse was true.

"Both Vines and Wilmer Allison were undertrained, if anything," Prentice said. "Both have been trying to 'find' their game."

WHITNEY HORSE BIDS FOR RECORD

Equipoise Pointing For Mark as World's Big Money Winner.

BY ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, July 25—With the Wilson Mile on the opening day of Saratoga, Aug. 3, his next objective, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise today was at the upstatetrack preparing for a campaign that is expected to carry him near if not to the top of the turf's money winners.

Although heavily engaged at the Spa and the Chicago tracks, the five-year old son of Pennant and Swinging, holder of the world's record of 1:34 2-5 for one mile, faces no easy task in earning the nearly $82,000 he needs to pass Sun Beau's mark of $376,744 Equipoise, fifth on the world's list and fourth on the American, has won $294,820.

Except for the $25,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup, a weight for age event which will be run either Aug. 16 or 19, the diminutive Whitney speedster's engagements are all in small stakes, most of them $3,500 or less.

Eligible For Eight Races.

Although eligible for eight races at the Spa, Equipoise probably will not start in more than two or three. T. J. Healey, his trainer, has outlined a program that definitely includes only the Wilson.

"Equipoise will start on the opening day at Saratoga," Healey told the Associated Press today. "Outside of that I am undecided as to the remainder of his program."

If all goes well, however, Equipoise is expected to be shipped back to Chicago for the Hawthorne Gold Cup, returning to the Spa for the fifty-third running of the Saratoga Cup, a $3,000 added event which should be at his mercy, as he will carry only 126 pounds—a light burden in comparison with the 135 he packed in the Arlington Handicap last Saturday.

Should he continue his present form, Equipoise probably also will be seen in all the important Autumn Stakes at Belmont Park and Maryland, with the chance he may meet Winooka, the mile champion from Australia, in September, either at Belmont or one of the Chicago courses.

Gabby Shoved Aside As Cardinal Leader In Favor of Frisch

BY LES CONKLIN.

NEW YORK, July 25—(INS)—The blistering climate of St. Louis may be an excellent place for a rheumatism cure, but it is a far from healthy spot for baseball managers. Frank Frisch, who has replaced Gabby Street as head man of the Cardinals, is the seventh pilot the club has had in eight years. And Bill Killefer was fired as the Browns' manager only last week.

Street, who was back on his farm in Joplin today hoeing corn as his reward for winning two pennants and a world championship, set a modern record at that. Ever since Branch Rickey got the hook in 1925, the average Cardinal manager had last about as long as a case of beer at a picnic, but the "Old Sarge" stuck it out for more than three years.

Gabby knew his number was up and for months he has been digesting predictions that Rogers Hornsby would replace him. The fact that Frisch got the job, instead of Hornsby indicates that the Rajah is slipping badly as a managerial menace.

Hornsby for years was the bogey man of all National managers. Frisch's appointment means Hornsby will again be treated to a change of scenery next year, for the two get along about as smoothly as oil and water. The Rajah likely will bob up as manager of the St. Louis Browns.

In picking Frisch, Owner Sam Breadon swallowed his prejudice against playing managers. There are now six of these in the majors, the greatest number in years.

Third to Go This Year.

Street is the third big league pilot to get the gate within six weeks, the others being Roger Peckinpaugh of Cleveland and Bill Killefer of the Browns.

Gabby, like many contract bridge players, made the mistake of leading his aces too frequently. He overworked his big mound stars, Carleton and Dean, and his other hurlers failed to come through, with the result that the Cards lost 11 out of 17 games during its recent home stand.

Frisch always has wanted to be a manager. He almost connected as McGraw's successor and also just missed grabbing the post left vacant in Brooklyn by the departure of Uncle Wilbert Robinson.

Frisch Gets On Job.

ST. LOUIS, July 25—(INS)—Frankie Frisch, newly appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, today began laying plans for the "new deal" which is expected to place the club back in the National league pennant race.

"Like all ball players, I have been ambitious to become a manager," said Frisch, who has been captain and second baseman of the Cardinals since 1927.

"I haven't had much chance to plan as yet and have no immediate changes in mind. I think, though, that if our club comes out of its present hitting slump, we should get somewhere in this race."

President Sam Breadon announced the appointment of Frisch, succeeding Charles E. (Gabby) Street with the statement that change was made "in the hope that under the leadership of Frisch the Cardinals will shake off their slump and make this a winning year."

Street had directed the club since 1930 and followed a rapid succession of managers, including Rogers Hornsby, Bill Southworth and Bill McKechnie. He won two pennants and a world's series for the Cardinals.

Came to Cards From Giants.

Frisch came to St. Louis from the Giants in 1926. His batting average over 14 years of major league baseball is .321

"I talked things over with Frisch and Street," explained Breadon, "Street has been loyal and has won two pennants and a world championship as leader of the Cardinals, but we decided that possibly a change might be for the best and Gabby is stepping down and Frisch has agreed to take over management of the team. He is a great player, his baseball is sound and I hope that under his leadership the Cardinals will shake off their slump and make this a pennant winning year."

The Cardinals are now eight games behind the league-leading Giants, having descended into the second division last Saturday.

Breadon several years ago adopted the policy of shifting managers whenever the team went into a protracted slump.

Rain Storm Swells Totals at Memphis

MEMPHIS, TENN., July 25—(AP)—Jack Westland, Chicago's 130-pound Walker cup star, today led the field into the final 18 holes of the western amateur tournament's 36-hole qualifying play by the slim margin of a single stroke His 71 of yesterday was one above par, but a heavy rainstorm took the edge off the sensation putting performance with which he had thrilled a large gallery on his first nine holes.

Maurice Hankinson of Oklahoma City finished with a 72, as did Gene Vison, Meridian, Miss., and Zell Eaton, another contender from Oklahoma City. Keefe Carter, also of Oklahoma City, had a 73.

At least seven well-favored competitors were placed in precarious positions by the rain storm, which probably will mean a qualification score of around 157.

Rodney Bliss of Omaha went into the second round handicapped by an 84; Paul Jackson, Kansas City, 85, and Frank Bredall of St. Louis, the western junior champion, had an 89 to overcome.

Armour Fails Make Grade for Pro Fest

CHICAGO, July 25—(AP)—Tommy Armour won't get a chance to meet his old pal, Gene Sarazen, in the national professionla golf championship at Milwaukee next month.

The "Silver Scot," who attacked Sarazen and other Ryder cup players last week for threatening to pass up the championship test, failed to qualify in the Chicago district test yesterday. Despite an illness, he tried but wound up with 150 shots, two shy of the qualifying limit.

Jim Foulis of Chicago, winner of the 1933 St. Paul open, led the field by shooting rounds of 68-72—140.

'Break' Expected In O'Connell Case

Officer Believes New York Kidnapers Are of Killer Type.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 25—(AP)—The family of kidnaped John J. O'Connell, jr., was represented as expecting a "break" today in the deal for the young man's return.

Ed O'Connell, Albany county democratic leader and uncle of the captive national guardsman, was quoted as saying:

"We look for a break today."

Meanwhile, Capt. Richard Oliver, commanding New York City detectives working on the case, expressed the opinion that the kidnapers are of the "killer type."

Held Captive 19 Days.

Oliver, who is in a hospital at present suffering from a throat ailment, explained that in their bargaining for the life of 24-year-old O'Connell the abductors have been cold-blooded, slow, deliberate and determined to hold out until their terms are met.

The time element, the veteran detective pointed out, is extremely important in kidnaping cases. O'Connell has been held captive 19 days.

"It becomes increasingly dangerous for the boy as the days go by and nothing comes of the negotiations," he said.

Estimates of game officials put the deer population of Missouri at 15,000 to 20,000.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS from Washington

Q. What are amphibians?

Q. Can snakes be eaten?

A. Their flesh is white and wholesome and is eaten by savages and occasionally by civilized people who are free from traditional prejudices.

Q. Were paper wheels ever used on railroads? How were they made?

A. For some years paper-cored wheels were used in passenger service on railroads. This model was invented in 1876 by R. N. Allen and later made and sold by the Allen Paper Car Wheel Co. They did not meet the needs of the heavy equipment and were discarded. The method of manufacturing was: Strawboard paper pressed while wet and then baked and dried in a kiln for 30 to 90 days; then re-pressed and baked again for six months. The paper centers were encased in steel tire and sides.

Q. How much will it cost to build the new French liner "Normandie?"

A. Approximately $30,000,000.

Stock Market Starts Session With Speedy Sprint But Stumbles Over Profit Taking Hurdles

Closing Tone of Exchange Heavy

Early Gains of 1 to 4 Points Replaced by Equivalent Losses.

NEW YORK, July 25—(AP)—

The stock market started out on a speedy sprint in today's abbreviated session, but ran out of breath later in attempting to surmount some profit taking and liquidating hurdles. Early gains of 1 to 4 or more points were replaced by equivalent losses and the close was heavy. Transfers approximated 3,500,000 shares.

The so-called "wet" issues led a renewal of yesterday's rally, but met large offerings on the way up with the result that they failed to hold and were down 1 to around 7 at the finish. The selling was orderly throughout and was viewed generally as the expected "secondary reaction" following the sharp recovery on Monday.

Most grains, in the restricted Chicago market, got up 1 to around 3 cents a bushel along with Winnipeg wheat. Cotton was a trifle easier. The dollar was a bit lower in foreign exchange dealings. Bonds were irregular.

National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, American Commercial Alcohol and Commercial Solvents were the principal casualties, although Homestake Mining dropped 9 points. Losers of 1 to about 4 included Case, American Smelting, International Harvester, Deere, Du Pont, New York Central, Industrial Rayon, American Telephone, United Aircraft, Baltimore & Ohio, Johns Manville, U. S. Steel, Santa Fe and American Can. There were some moderate last-minute rallies and prices, as a whole, ended somewhat above their lows.

While most of the pressing margin situations were believed to have been cleared up, there was said to be still some liquidation in evidence. At the same time it was reported that operators for the "short" side were expanding their commitments somewhat more than in the past several days.

Aside from the general outline of the technique to be followed in the industrial recovery campaign described by President Roosevelt last night, the address was of interest to the financial district also because of its comment on the country's credit condition. It is generally conceded in Wall street that financial interests will co-operate fully with the administration in its effort to accomplish a "reasonable prosperity" for everybody.

Wide attention was centered on developments at the meeting of European central banks, held at the headquarters of the bank for international settlements. That the conference resulted in no agreement for united action to combat currency fluctuations was not surprising to banking authorities here who feel that such a pattern is impossible of completion until the ultimate position of the American dollar is more clearly defined.

Domestic trade developments continued to display progress. Railroad reports for June showed large gains in net operating income over June, 1932, while gross is also higher. The condition statement of weekly reporting federal reserve member banks in 90 leading cities showed an increase of $22,000,000 in loans and investments for the week ended July 19, a gain of $26,000,000 in time deposits, and $12,000,000 in reserve balances. Net demand deposits decreased $47,000,000.

Foreign exchanges were steady in early dealings. Sterling opened at $4.67½, an overnight gain of half a cent, while French francs stood at 5.47 cents, an increase of .05 of a cent.

Omaha Produce.

OMAHA, July 25—(AP)—

Poultry and eggs were mostly unchanged on the Omaha produce market today, bids to the country being steady and firm with eggs around $3.15 a case. Butterfat was firm at yesterday's decline with creamery and dairy butter little changed.

POULTRY—No. 1 poultry delivered in Omaha: native broilers 10@11c; springs 3 lbs., and over 12@13c; legborn broilers and springs 9c; light hens 7½c; leghorn hens 6½@7c; most buyers pay slightly higher for choice selected poultry.

POULTRY— EGGS—Fresh eggs delivered in Omaha loss-off basis $3.15 a case; in used cases 25c less; graded basis extras 13c; standards 7½c; under grades 7c; loose eggs, that is without cases, about ½c per dozen less. Buyers pay a fair premium for specials, commonly known as hennery eggs, strictly fresh, large and uniform in size and color.

BUTTERFAT—No. 1 cream delivered in Omaha 18c; at country stations 17c; direct shippers price, track in nearby territory, 18c; No. 2 cream 2c less.

BUTTER—Dairy: fresh fancy rolls 11c per lb. packing stock 8½c; creamery: quotations to retailers, best butter one lb. cartons solid 25c; ditto in 60 lb. tubs 24½c; good butter 1 lb. cartons 24c; quarters ½c more than solid; sweet butter 2c more than salted.

FRESH MILK—Fresh milk testing 3.8 butterfat delivered $1.64 per hundredweight. This is the basic price on which most large dairies contract for milk for the bottle trade; variation for each point of butterfat. Milk over that used for bottle trade, known as surplus milk and used for industrial purposes, is bought at a discount from the basic price.

GREEN VEGETABLES—Wholesale prices to retailers fob. Omaha: Potatoes, cobblers and triumphs, $3.25@3.50 cwt. Southern sweet potatoes $2.50 hamper. Cauliflower $1.75 crate. Dry onions, crystal wax, $2.00 bag; yellow or red $1.50 bag. Cabbage 5c a pound. Tomatoes $1.50 lug. Cucumbers 50c per mkt bsk. Celery, small crate $1.50. Head lettuce $3.50 crate. Beets 30c doz. bunches; turnips 30c doz. bunches; carrots $3.50 crate; beans green or wax 50c mkt. bsk.; peas 50 lbs. $3.00. Watermelons 1¾c per lb.; cantaloupes $2.50@3.00 crate. Honey dews $2.50 crate.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, July 25—(AP)—The grain trade is well pleased with the board of trade's ruling that minimum and maximum prices will be maintained today, the minimum price being regarded as an especially good move on the part of officials. The public and the trade in general showed confidence in the ability of the market to absorb millions of bushels of cash and future yesterday and prices were maintained at a good level despite heavy liquidation by eastern interests. It is generally expected that within a few days the markets will assume a more normal condition.

Seibel C. Harris, important Chicago trader, says: "Fundamentally there is a sound basis for firmness in grain prices. The wheat crop in this country promises to be the smallest in several decades. Canada is threatened with enormous losses compared with its early promises. Heat and drouth have taken enormous toll of feedstuffs and foodstuffs, which is bound to tell in the long run."

Farmers, having profited to the extent of millions of dollars by holding back their cash grain when prices were so low several months ago were reported yesterday as having again refused to part with their grains after the drastic decline of last week. Leading Chicago cash grain handlers said they had no offers of grain "to arrive" yesterday.

According to the United States department of agriculture, this year's wheat crop will be only 56 per cent of the average crop harvested during the years 1926 to 1930, oats, 59 per cent; rye, 61 per cent; barley, 64 per cent, and corn, 83 per cent.

Chicago Grains Stage Advance

Wheat Closes Unsettled, 1¼ to 1¾ Above Monday Finish.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 25—(AP)—

Wheat recovered today to almost 10 cents a bushel above the extreme low price of 90 cents registered during recent panicky liquidating sales for speculators.

All grains bounded upward after evidence developed that liquidation was virtually ended. Reassuring statements from trade leaders led to more cheerful feeling, and the market showed quick responsiveness to pessimistic crop advices from Canada accompanied by forecasts of unwelcome higher temperatures throughout spring wheat territory both sides of the Canadian border.

Today's top prices were not fully maintained, selling to realize profits causing reactions of about 2½ cents from the apex.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1¼-1¾ above yesterday's finish, July 91¼, Sep., 93⅜-⅞, corn ⅞@2⅛ higher, July 49⅝; Sep., 53⅞@54, Oct., 1¼@3⅜ up and provisions 5 cents to 75 cents advanced.

Material upturns in wheat prices formed the rule early today. Active buying was largely based on reports indicating likelihood that the Canadian wheat crop had passed the limit where drouth relief was possible. Opening unchanged to 1½ cents higher, wheat afterward held near the initial quotations. Corn started at the same as yesterday's close, and subsequently kept unchanged.

Increased selling pressure and lessened demand of buyers developed on the early upturn in wheat values. In most cases, however, price reactions that ensued failed to reach the minimum limits fixed under prevailing emergency rules. The selling on advances appeared to be in the nature of liquidation on the part of holders unable or unwilling to retain ownership.

Announcement of the suspension of a Bloomington, Ill., firm from membership in the Chicago exchange was coincident with enlargement of selling. This was the third suspension announced within the last 48 hours.

Rebounds from wheat price setbacks that accompanied notice of the Bloomington suspension carried the market up quickly more than a cent a bushel from the low point. The advantage went well above the top figures touched early.

Milling interests were prominent as buyers of wheat. In various quarters, this circumstance was construed as significant that liquidating sales would be completed sooner than most traders had believed probable.

Another strengthening factor was word that export business at Winnipeg yesterday totaled 3,000,000 bushels, instead of 2,000,000 as originally estimated.

For the first time of late, corn displayed strength at times today, especially after wheat scored renewed advances. Reports were that a major crop disaster was threatening the corn crop. Some Indiana points said no rain had been received in eight weeks, and that during part of that period the thermometer had ranged from 90 to 105.

Approaching noon wheat mounted as high in some cases as 3 cents above yesterday's finish. At this stage rye was also up 3 cents, barley 5 cents, July corn and oats more than 2½ cents.

Talk was general that forced liquidation by a big New York speculator who had been suspended was now practically complete. Corn futures were actively in demand though meeting with larger offerings than was received in other cereals.

Oats offerings were relatively scarce.

Provisions rose with grains despite downturns of hog prices.

A four cent gain in wheat was soon chalked up, with the rise still continuing. Purchases were of liberal volume, but the market presented no evidence of hysteria. Sellers were in a decided minority during most the advance, with price setbacks transient and moderate.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 25—(AP)—

Rail loans again made the best showing in a generally firm bonds market today.

The list moved with some hesitancy for a time after its noon opening, but climbed slowly as fresh demand appeared in the carrier group. Improvement already recorded in railroad earnings and optimism with respect to interest coverage this year counted heavily in the rail buying.

Recent carrier favorites like Allegheny Corporation 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, St. Paul 5s, Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s and Southern Railway 4s scored gains ranging from 1 to 3 points.

There were a number of buoyant spots in the utility and industrial divisions in spite of ripples of profit taking. The principal gainers included American & Foreign Power 5s, International Telephone 4½s, Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s, Chile Copper 5s, and Warner Bros. 6s.

In the foreign division the price range was uneven. Some of the South American felt further pressure along with Japan 6½s, which receded more than a point. Certain of the French obligations were strong.

The market for U. S. governments was quiet and featureless, with prices mostly a shade higher.

Texas Technological Students Visit Here On Field Trip Tour

Members of the first agricultural economics field trip ever sent out from the Texas Technological college at Lubbock, Texas spent Monday afternoon and most of Tuesday in Lincoln. The group of seven left Tuesday afternon for Omaha.

The trip is under the direction of Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the agricultural economics department at the college, and will last for seven weeks, with the boys receiving college credit.

After leaving Omaha the group will go to Minneapolis to study co-operative dairying. After a seven day stop at the World's fair they will go south from Chicago to New Orleans, studying the agricultural developments of that region. Their itinerary includes fifteen states with stops at each agricultural college and experimental station on their route.

The boys were guests of a group of Lincoln men at a luncheon at the chamber of commerce Tuesday noon.

Lincoln Builders Approve American Contractors Code

Members of the Lincoln Builders bureau Monday evening approved the code of fair competition for general contractors, which was drawn by the Associated General Contractors of America, and recently submitted to President Roosevelt for approval under he naional recoveaos approval under the national recovery act. The meeting was held at the chamber of commerce. W. J. Assenmacher, president, presided.

Before studying the code the contractors heard President Roosevelt's address.

Plans are now in progress for a statewide meeting of general contractors, at which it is hoped the code will also be adopted. It is expected the meeting will be held within the next ten days.

STOCK ISSUE BY OMAHA NATIONAL

Sells $1,250,000 Preferred To Federal Corporation.

OMAHA, July 25 — (AP) — The Omaha National bank today announced sale of $1,250,000 in five percent preferred stock to the reconstruction finance corporation.

At the same time the bank announced absolute divorce of its securities affiliate, the Omaha National company. Henceforth the bank will engage only in commercial banking and trust service.

The announcement said the preferred stock sale was arranged for two reasons: First to meet the government's policy toward general strengthening of the capital structure of banks; second, to eliminate all notes and securities that might be open to criticism.

The Omaha National is one of the first banks in the middlewest to take advantage of the preferred stock clause of the banking law passed by the last session of congress. The RFC was directed to absorb stock issued by banks wishing ot strengthen their capital structure.

May Repurchase Stock.

The probability is that some time in the future the bank will buy back the RFC stock, though there is no requirement that it do so. Further, there is nothing to prevent the RFC from disposing of the stock to private investors.

The bank's divorced affiliate, the Omaha National company, will become the Nebraska Bond and Mortgage corporation. Charles S. Mead is president.

"The corporation's investment is not a loan," said Pres. W. Dale Clark of the bank, "but an investment in stock of the bank, made after a thorough investigation of the bank's affairs had satisfied the corporation of the soundness of its position as a stockholder, subordinate in every respect to the claims of depositors."

Spirit of School Teachers Lauded In Robbins' Talk

The schools will be continued in a fine manner despite the loss of revenue over the past three years, said W. A. Robbins, member of the board of education, in a speech before the oRtary club Tuesday.

Mr. Robbins praised the teachers for their fine spirit in accepting the 30 per cent cut without complaint and in accepting heavier teaching loads. "They have displayed a willingness such as could not be found in any other organization," he asserted.

The speaker recounted school financial history for the 3-year period, explaning that annexing of the suburbs caused a decreased revenue and increased expense.

President J. B. Pemberton announced the board had accepted the appointment of the chamber of commerce to aid with the industrial decovery drive.

A Rotary family picnic will be held at the Shrine playground next Tuesday evening, according to Ed Schmid.

Salesmen Advised Of Advantages Of New Gas Furnace

Details of a five-months' campaign to launch the company's new gas furnace were related to salesmen on the last day of the summer conference of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power Co. at the Cornhusker hotel Tuesday.

M. J. Roberts, Buffalo designer of the furnace explained the many new features. T. E. Grant, Chicago, and C. A. Nash, Chicago, vice president of the United Light and Power Engineering and Construction Co. also spoke.

Acording to Roberts, through a "magic throttling valve" the height of the gas flame automatically goes up and down and the fire is never out. Roberts declared it is "a gas burner with a college education."

Part of the day's discussion was devoted to health lamps, electric mangles, and gas refrigerators.

A plan of approaching various Lincoln merchants to put displays in empty show windows was outlined by Stanley Taber, assistant general manager of the power company.

DRAGNET SPREAD FOR BANDITS BY IOWA OFFICERS

SUTHERLAND, Ia., July 25—(AP) Officers spread out from Sutherland eastward through three counties to La Verne today in a renewed search for three members of the Barrow gang who escaped during a gun battle near Dexter, Ia., yesterday.

A posse of federal, state and county officers raided a reported hangout of the gang in a ravine near here this morning but found no evidences of recent occupation.

Several small posses, each with a machine gun, were working toward La Verne, but it was feared the gang may have escaped during the night into Minnesota or South Dakota.

The officials are seeking Clyde Barrow, Texas desperado, a woman companion, and a man identified as Jack Sherman of Dallas, Tex.

In the fray yesterday, Marvin Barrow was seriously wounded and his wife taken prisoner.

Barrow, in a Perry hospital, was reported slightly improved today, but physicians expected meningitis to develop from an old wound in his forehead. They held little hope for his recovery.

Heavily armed, the peace officers gathered here last night after receiving reports that the three fugitives had been seen in a stolen automobile headed for Sutherland, vicinity of one of the gangs hideouts.

Shortly after 9 p. m., the officials charged the hideout in a ravine seven miles east of here, but found no traces of recent occupation. They received orders from Park A. Findley, chief of the bureau of investigation, to remain here overnight.

Wanted for Murder.

Both Barrows are wanted for murder. Jack Sherman is suspected of being Bob Brady, Oklahoma convict who escaped from the McAlester prison, was captured in Des Moines, sentenced to the Kansas state prison, and escaped Memorial day with ten others by kidnaping the warden.

At Perry, Ia., Marvin Barrow was reported by hospital attendants as "resting easily." His principal wound is in the forehead.

His wife, in the Polk county jail at Des Moines, admitted being with the gang at Platte City, Mo., last week when the members shot their way out of a tourist camp. Missouri officers identified her as one of the members of the group.

Early yesterday the five were surrounded by officers in Dexfield park near Dexter. Two of the three who escaped are believed to have been wounded.

State Road Employe Dies of Blood Clot From Minor Injury

Osborn M. Martin, 45, employe of the state highway department, died at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at his home five miles southwest of Lincoln.

A minor injury suffered July 14 resulted in a blood clot which caused Mr. Martin's death when it reached his heart. He was hurt while working at the state equipment yards, Sixth and South streets. He and a fellow employe were using a drill, the point of which broke.

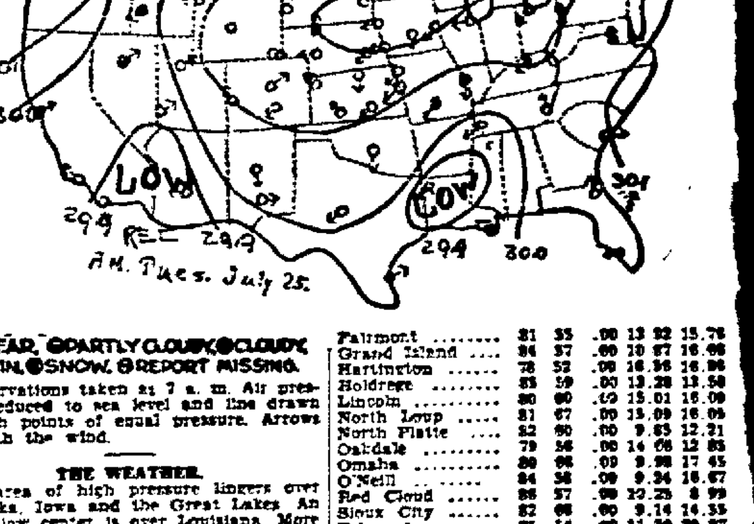

Mr. Martin suffered a blow on his knee and a small piece of steel lodged in his flesh. The physicians did not think it necessary to remove this piece of steel after an X-ray examination was made and Mr. Martin went to work the next day. He was ordered to bed the day before his death when he did not recover satisfactorily. An autopsy was conducted Tuesday morning.

Surviving are his wife, Myra, a son, Don, at home; his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin of Pawnee City; two sisters, Mrs. Olin Turner of Pawnee City and Mrs. Elmer Everett of Siebert, Colo.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday at Hodgman's chapel with Rev. F. W. Leavitt and Rev. Frank Mills officiating. Burial will be in Wyuka.

U. S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE WEATHER BUREAU

CHARLES F. MARVIN, Chief

OCLEAR, ◐PARTLY CLOUDY, ●CLOUDY, ⓇRAIN, ⓈSNOW, ⓂREPORT MISSING.

Observations taken at 7 a. m. Air pressure reduced to sea level and line drawn through points of equal pressure. Arrows fly with the wind.

THE WEATHER.

An area of high pressure lingers over Nebraska, Iowa and the Great Lakes. An active low center is over Louisiana. More than eighteen inches of rain has fallen at Shreveport in the last 48 hours, 9.94 in 24 hours. New Orleans reports 1.04 inches, Memphis 1.22 inches, Louisville .54 inch and Pittsburgh .20 inch. These points seem to mark the course of the rain area. Clear skies and rising temperature characterize the weather of the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys and the region of the Great Plains. Abnormally warm weather is reported from Idaho, Utah and Nevada. T. A. BLAIR.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

In Greenland Eskimos come trekking great distances to see Colonel Lindbergh and his wife, who are making air maps of a northern route to Europe. The Eskimos with their wives, sit by the hour and gaze at the plane after it has come to earth, then go back to tell about it, and are not believed.

It is probably compared in size with a wild goose, biggest bird in Greenland, and roaring with the noises that a goose makes. That the plane is a living being, carrying human beings around, the Eskimos probably do not doubt.

Learned geological gentlemen in Washington hear that the human race started in Africa, not in central Asia somewhere near the Gobi desert of Thibet, as supposed.

First the clumsy Neanderthal man came from Africa to Europe, then the more cunning modern type came and drove out the Neanderthal. The latter man would have pleased the prize fight promoters, for, in his caves, scientists find clubs and implements that even the Italian heavyweight, Carnera, could not handle.

On the other hand, Gregory Mason, archaelogist of the University of Pennsylvania museum, thinks he can prove that man first developed on this American continent.

There have been seen in Spanish Honduras strange apes of anthropoid type and in Wyoming there has been found an animal called "Tarsius," half ape, half tree shrew. These creatures might have started the human race on its way.

It doesn't matter much where men started, what counts is, what they did after they started.

On the whole it seems not to have been much to their credit. No other animal has been cruel.

The tree shrew, by the way, seems to be a most adaptable animal. You could hold it easily in your hand. Yet it is said to be the ancestor of the whale, 80 feet long.

Predict Nearly Half Of Bank Receivers Will Be Replaced

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Arthur Mullen, democratic national committeeman from Nebraska, and Rep. Edgar Howard today said the comptroller of the currency is directing a survey of all national bank receiverships in Nebraska. They predicted nearly half the receivers and attorneys would be replaced as a result, while the remainder likely would experience salary adjustments. A list of the new appointees is being prepared, they said, but that has not been made public.

MUNICIPAL COURT AT OMAHA ROBBED

OMAHA, July 25—(AP)—There's a burglar in Omaha who operates just as well in court as he does anywhere else. This particular burglar invaded the Municipal court office in the city hall either Saturday or Sunday night, opened the vault and departed with about $100 in currency, city officials said.

MINERVA'S MAIL

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Universal Creed.

The creed of beauty is universal these days. So why should any woman hesitate to subscribe to it. Never were there lovelier young girls, and more gracious and charming older women, I believe, than are to be seen today. Yet there still linger the dissatisfied misfits, who wrongly believe themselves born under an unfortunate star, doomed to be unpopular and unbeautiful all their lives.

I have seen so much in the way of transformation of the ugly duckling into a more appealing bird that I wish to pass on this brief word of hope, that in this day of frank and frequent appeal to the looking-glass, and of publicized knowledge of scientific diets, exercises, beautifying regimes, and smart and appropriate dressing, there is no reason other than those of lack of will power or initiative why any girl or woman need be other than attractive in her own individual way.

Every girl should learn, very early in life, to make the very most of every ounce she possesses. And every woman, of any age, may do wonders toward improving her appearance and personality, if she will but take the trouble to do so. We get out of life just about what we put into it and our associates value us just about as highly as we deserve to be valued.

Distracting Trifles.

Dear Minerva: We have lived for three years in an apartment which is unusually comfortable and charming and which is home to us. Recently, complications have arisen, which make me want to move, but my husband will not hear to it. A young girl who has moved into a neighboring apartment, has repeatedly told others that my husband makes advances to her, that she has to avoid him, and that she feels sorry for me. I told my husband and he said it was a lot of silly nonsense, which I should ignore. My landlady has spread the story all around, however. So I went to her and asked her please not to spread such reports about. She became very angry and we had hot words. So, altogether, the atmosphere is not a happy one.

Why don't single girls realize what heartaches and trouble they bring to the wives of married men? This girl is an attractive little flirt, and never misses an opportunity to kid with my husband when she can, and maneuvers so she can ride down town with him morning after morning. She has plenty of unmarried beaux. Why does she need bring embarrassment and unhappiness to me?—LAURA.

A.—Don't place so much weight upon what are comparatively inconsequential matters. As to the flirtatious girl, give your husband the benefit of the doubt. Many young things are all too prone to boast about the fascination they have for married men, and dote on telling of how they must fight off the attentions, when in truth they seek such attentions just for the sake of excitement and nothing more. Since your husband has assured you there is no truth in her stories, believe him and forget about her.

The landlady probably more or less lives on gossip, and you just happened to be her latest victim. You really should ignore anything she has to say about you, or others, and maintain an attitude of polite but distant business relatinoship.

Your husband is right not to want to move. Why let such trifles drive you away from your home.

Answered Briefly.

Lucie: Becomingness is the first consideration in deciding the length of a frock, and if an inch either way adds to the becomingness, then use that inch. Most sports frocks are about nine inches from the ground, afternoon dresses from seven to nine, and evening dresses are quite long, ankle length or touching the floor.

Mrs. M. J.: A negative response is the best way of meeting the child's temper tantrum or smart alecky, showoff behavior. Simply ignore him, and chances are that his misconduct will languish when denied the exciting applause of the parent's attention.

Eunice: A navy blue corduroy sports coat would make a good traveling wrap and be a very useful garment for Fall wear. I think you would find it nicer with summer frocks than the tweed coat.

LINCOLN PROGRAM TO MARK GOLDEN JUBILEE OF W. R. C.

The golden jubilee of the national organization of the Woman's Relief corps will be observed in Lincoln Wednesday from 4 to 6 o'clock, with a program and supper in Antelope park, for which Farragut corps of Lincoln is hostess. Covers for two hundred members from Appomattox, Belknap, and Farragut of Lincoln and the Beatrice, Fairbury, and Seward corps will be present. Each of the forty-two departments in the United States is observing this fiftieth anniversary.

Mrs. Helen E. Cook, the only charter member in Lincoln, will be a special guest. Mrs. O. C. Bell is to give a toast to the army nurses, Mrs. Lilliam Harm to the G. A. R., and Mrs. Anna Curtis to the pioneers. Mrs. Vida H. Edwards is general chairman of the affair.

INCREASE IN PAY IS GIVEN TO 8,000 GARMENT WORKERS

CINCINNATI, July 25— (AP) — Wages have been increased 20 per cent by members of the Union-Made Garment Manufacturers association of America, Benjamin Berman, chairman of the legislative and fair trade practice committee, announced today.

More than 8,000 workers benefitted from the increase, which became effective July 17, he said. The leading manufacturers of overalls are represented in the association.

Merman did not say whether the increase restored previous reductions.

Woodring of Kansas And Helen Coolidge Are Married in East

FITCHBURG, Mass., July 25—(AP)—Many high in the councils of the nation gathered at the home of United States Senator Marcus A. Coolidge today for the wedding of his daughter, Helen, and Harry Hines Woodring, first assistant secretary of war and former governor of Kansas.

Rev. Max A. Kapp of the First Universalist church officiated, and attendants of the bride and groom included James Roosevelt, eldest son of the president; Col. Robert Lemon, aide of Mr. Woodring when he was governor of Kansas, and Mrs. Donald F. Carpenter of Leominister and Mrs. Robert E. Greenwood of Fitchburg, sisters of the bride.

Senator Coolidge gave his daughter in marriage.

A reception to more than 400 guests was held after the ceremony at the Oak Hill Country club and after the reception Woodring and his bride left for New York, where they will board the liner President Roosevelt tomorrow on a European honeymoon.

SOLON'S DAUGHTER WEDS.

CANTON, Pa., July 25—(AP)—Miss Barbara McFadden, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Louis T. McFadden, became the bride of Henrik M. C. Lykx of Detroit in a candlelight ceremony last night. She was given away by her father.

STANDARD OIL SELLS NEW GAS

'Q' Brand of Anti-Knock Fuel Introduced By Company.

The Standard Oil Co. has prepared and is now ready to market as its regular grade gasoline a new purple-colored motor fuel containing tetracthyl lead concentrate known in the trade as "Q" brand, anti-knock compound. Company officials state that the new product meets the specifications of many premium gasolines of the past. No premium price is charged.

The new gasoline has been manufactured for some time by the refiners and supplies are already going to the field for distribution. Motorists will be asked to try Standard's new purple-colored super motor fuel and make their own conclusions.

Weather Bureau Kiosks Fired For Telling Untruths

The weather bureau kiosks at Tenth and O streets and on the University of Nebraska campus just south of 'U' hall are soon to be but a memory.

Like the old hitching post and othre relics of yesterday's America, other kiosks have become obsolete and unnecessary in the march of progress. Lincoln's weather bureau, along with all other cities where the kiosks are still in service, has been directed by the weather bureau at Washington, D. C., to remove the structures.

"Their function as a means of disseminating weather information has been supplanted by the press," T. A. Blair, chief of the local bureau explained. "Their readings have been known to be spurious and misleading and have never been regarded as sufficiently accurate to be used for official records."

Bidders on the kiosks Monday asked pay of from $10 to $50 to take them away and repair the sidewalks. The kiosks are of cast iron and glass and the one at Tenth and O streets has been in place for 21 years. Because it isn't known what kind of a foundation the kiosks have, the amount of work needed to repair the sidewalks cannot be determined. Mr. Blair, who had hoped bidders would offer to buy the kiosks instead of wanting money to take them out, expects to make arrangements for their removal without again advertising for bids.

SHOW CLOSED IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 25—(AP)—Trouble between the producer of "Moonshine and Honeysuckle" and the stage hands' union over the number of men to be employed backstage has led to the closing of the play after a one night's stand. Patrons who appeared at the Illinois theater last night were refunded their money.

SETTLE IS GOING ON SOLO FLIGHT TO STRATOSPHERE

CHICAGO, July 25—(AP)—Lieut. Com. T. G. W. Settle of the United States navy will make a solo flight to the stratosphere, acting both as navigator and scientific observer on the balloon ascension from Soldier field, Chicago.

Definite announcement was made today that Settle, three time winner of the Gordon Bennett trophy, will go it alone, Dr. Jean Piccard withdrawing from active participation so that more scientific instruments may be packed aboard the spherical gondola. It had been planned originally that Dr. Piccard or his brother, Auguste, veteran of two European stratosphere ascensions, would make the hazardous flight.

The time of the takeoff from A Century of Progress grounds has not yet been fixed, awaiting a certainty of favorable meteorological conditions.

Settle arrived last night and after a study of weather conditions he hoped the ascent might begin late in the week.

Co-op Creameries Plan Adoption Of Code For Region

Co-operative creamery associations of Nebraska Iowa South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois will send representatives to a meeting at Des Moines within the next week or ten days to discuss the adoption of a regional industrial code for their business, which subsequently may be incorporated in a national code.

Secretary G. W. Bivens of the Adams county co-operative milk producers' association gave out this information Tuesday while in Lincoln. He said the matter has been under discussion for some time and that the co-operatives are ready to join in the general national program which President Roosevelt is asking all industries to carry into effect.

Dollar Weaker

LONDON, July 25—(AP)—The dollar fluctuated quietly within a range of about 3 cents on the London market today and closed 1 cent weaker on the day at $4.67¼ to the pound.

Gold currencies moved narrowly and closed steady. The mark finished at 14.02 to the pound, the Dutch guilder 8.29¼, while the French franc appreciated to 85.6 on temporary removal of control operations.

PARIS, July 25—(AP)—The American dollar closed today at 18.24 francs (5.486 cents to the franc), a decrease of 2 centimes from yesterday's close of 18.26 francs (5.476 cents.)

OIL OUTPUT DROPS.

TULSA, Okla., July 25—(AP)—The effects of federal intervention in crude oil movement from east Texas was felt sharply in the production of the United States last week, and daily average output dropped 66,993 barrels from 2,791,421 to 2,724,428 barrels, the oil and gas journal says.

TRIBUTE PAID TO C. A. ROBBINS

Funeral Services Held for Former University Law Professor.

Tribute was paid to Prof. Charles A. Robbins as a man who not only knew law but who also had the rare gift of a master teacher by Rev. Harry E. Hess Tuesday morning at funeral services at Hodgman's chapel. Professor Robbins had been on the faculty of the University of Nebraska law college since 1893, the last two years on an emeritus basis.

"Successful lawyers all over the state," declared Rev. Mr. Hess "say that Professor Robbins not only made them know law, but made them understand it. He was a master in his field!"

Taking as his sermon the verse "I have finished my course; I have kept the faith," Rev. Mr. Hess said that no finer thing can be said of any person than those last words of the apostle Paul.

"This man, Professor Robbins, has come to the end of his course," he continued, "he lived as a most useful man, a most successful one, and was such a masterly teacher."

"He has come to the end of his course, as Paul said," Rev. Hess declared in closing, "but not to the end of his life. He is at the end of his worldly life and now enters into the fuller life."

Vera Augusta Upton accompanied by Howard Kirkpatrick, sang two of Professor Robbins' favorite hymns "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me." Mr. Kirkpatrick also played a number of the favorite hymns on the organ before and after the service.

Pallbearers were: Dan DePutron, Dr. Harry Flansburg, Earl Cline, Sam Waugh, Evert Hunt and Clifford Hicks. Interment was in Wyuka.

Aimee Tells Of Her Love For Husband

Evangelist Says Hutton's Divorce Suit is 'Tremendous Shock.'

ABOARD THE LINER CITY OF HAVRE, Off Norfolk, Va., July 25—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, the Los Angeles evangelist, returned to America today, protesting she still loved hre husband, David Hutton, "more than anything in the world."

Asked about his recent action instituting divorce proceedings, she said:

"Oh, I can't believe it. Of course I still am in love with him."

Attended by nurse, she lay on a bunk in the captain's quarters to receive newspapermen as the City of Havre pulled into port.

"It is all so hasty that I don't know what to say," she said. "His last word was that he was counting the hours until I returned. It has been a tremendous shock."

Pale and Lips Tremble.

She was pale, and her lips trembled as she talked, and on one occasion after she had talked a few minutes her nurse, Miss Bernadette Middleton, protested Mrs. Hutton was unable to continue. The interview was resumed after a brief pause.

Aimee declined to say what course she would take. "I feel," she said, "that I am incompetent to make a statement. It is like a bolt out of the blue."

The City of Havre remained in Norfolk part of today, and then is to continue on to Baltimore where Aimee is to disembark.

She is expected to stay in Baltimore several days.

The evangelist has been abroad since January and recently underwent an operation in Paris. It was while she was on board the City of Havre that she was informed about her husband's divorce action.

The interview was terminated before she could be questioned about the telegram to Hutton from Paris informing him she had a baby, which proved to be untrue.

LOST DIAMONDS FOUND.

DENVER—(INS)— Workmen on the Boulder dam project recently found diamonds valued at $2,400. The diamonds eight of them—were lost from the point of a drill when government engineers were testing foundation rock for the dam 10 years ago. They were brought to Denver for resetting in another bit and will be used again.

EVA GETS TICKET.

TRACY, Ia.—(INS)—Little Eva's journey to heaven was suddenly halted here recently. The junior high school class was presenting Uncle Tom's cabin. All went smoothly until Little Eva's classic rise to celestial heights. The rope which was cast in the role of aiding her ascent gave way and Little Eva, portrayed by Thelma Hagate, dropped rudely back to earth.

IMPORTANT SKIN SECRET USED BY LOVELIEST STARS

CHOOSE your powder with the same care that movie stars employ. One of their most important secrets is: Always use a powder which repels moisture. Millions of women who do not know this beauty rule run daily risk of clogged, coarse pores and blackheads, caused by common moisture-absorbing powder.

Change now to dainty, moisture-proof Golden Peacock Face Powder. Its moisture-repelling power actually makes it stay fresh, uncaked, hours longer than common powders; protects your skin marvelously from powder getting in pores and coarsening them.
